Minnesota Banks.

A Minnesotian occupies some little space in our columns to-day in defence of Minnesota Banks. We give him his say, urging only this in reply: Confessedly, bonds worth not half their nominal value are received, at a valuation less than par, by five per cent. only, by the Auditor of that State, as security for the circulation of the banks under his control! And we say another word? Is not that sufficient to condemn the whole batch which the system has spawned? Do the merchants and bankers of Chicago need any other fact to impel them to give Minnesota bank-notes a wide berth, or to breed contempt in their minds for those who threaten them with loss of business for so doing?

The Reason.

We learn from one of the Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors, that examinations have been made in the Court House Square, which showed that the blue clay with which it was filled up to within a foot of the surface is not yet sufficiently settled to admit of the planting of trees and the permanent adorning of the grounds. The clay still lies in blocks, like loose rock, and it will be necessary to leave the grounds nearly in their present condition for another year. After they are fully settled, Judge Fuller, the contractor, is again to fill up the Square to grade, when trees will be planted and the grounds suitably ornamented. Grass seed will be sown, and the yard cleared up in order to make it look as well during the season as circumstances will permit. In the meantime our citizens will be very willing to wait another season in order that the work may be well done.

Meeting of the Board of Trade—The Coe and Van Inwagen Case.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of hearing the report of the Board of Directors on the Coe-Van Inwagen case—Julian S. Rumsey, Esq., President, W. W. Mitchell, Esq., Secretary.

Mr. Clary, on behalf of the other Directors, submitted the following report:

REPORT.

The Board of Directors, to whom was referred the subject matter of the charges of Mr. Van Inwagen against Watson V. Coe, having attended to the duty assigned them, and given a patient and thorough investigation, beg leave to report:

That from the testimony presented and the explanations made by both parties, the Directors are of opinion that Mr. Van Inwagen, smarting under the resolutions of the Board of Trade adopted some time since, in which this body condemned his course in the affair of the purchase by him of Coe, of the cargo of corn for the propeller Kenosha, in August last, set about a further investigation of that subject, that he might exculpate himself and still prove Mr. Coe in the wrong; and that while pursuing such investigations, he found what he had sufficient reason to suppose to be "unfair dealing" on the part of Mr. Coe, in rendering accounts of sales of corn at a less price than he received for it; and in the letters of Coe to the parties in interest, that the corn sold to Van Inwagen was warm, but that he had got it off all right.

The Directors are of opinion that the conduct of Mr. Van Inwagen, in hunting up evidence against Mr. Coe in relation to his transactions with other parties, and in which he (Van Inwagen) had no interest, savors of revenge, and was followed up with an industry worthy of a better cause; and the Directors hope to be excused hereafter from entertaining charges against any member of the Board, so easily susceptible of explanation.

In the testimony presented by Mr. Coe, copies of which accompany this report, the Directors take pleasure in stating that the refutation of all the charges is most complete and conclusive. That the apparent discrepancies in the accounts of sales rendered was simply from the manner of keeping his accounts; that the accounts were made out for the corn afloat, and that the apparent differences in two of the boat loads were the sums paid for storage and clearing, and in the other case the amount paid Munn & Scott for the difference paid them by Coe between the amount of the sale by Coe to them, and the amount received by Mr. Coe from Van Inwagen.

The Directors are of opinion that the charge against Mr. Coe, of the payment by him of a considerable sum of money to Hotchkiss & Tarble, as hush money, is not sustained by the testimony, and that the statements of Eames, Allen & Co. and others, show conclusively that this compromise was a correct business transaction, and had nothing to do with any charges of dishonesty against Mr. Coe.

The Directors cannot dismiss this subject without adding that, in their opinion, much of this difficulty has arisen from the misrepresentations of one of the interested parties in regard to this compromise at Ottawa; that it is quite obvious that this person, to curry favor with others and exculpate himself, has been willing that the reputation of Mr. Coe should suffer, when it was fully in his power to have set the matter right with Mr. Van Inwagen.

The Directors would therefore recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the further consideration of this subject be indefinitely postponed.

J. S. RUMSEY.
STEPHEN CLARY,
E. B. STEVENS.
W. MUNGER,
JOS. H. TUCKER,
HIRAM WHEELER,
A. DOW,
GEO. STEEL,
E. W. DENSMORE.

On motion, the above report, without the resolution was received and adopted.

A motion was then made that the resolution be adopted, to which an amendment was offered suspending Mr. Van Inwagen from the privileges of the Board for six days.

Before the motion and amendment were put to the vote, Mr. Van Inwagen expressed himself willing to apologize if the Board thought he had acted wrongfully towards Mr. Coe in the matter.

The amendment to suspend Mr. Van Inwagen was then put to the vote and lost, after which the resolution accompanying the report was adopted.

On motion the meeting then adjourned.

Carl Schurz at Boston.

At the celebration by the Republicans of Boston of the anniversary of the birth-day of Thomas Jefferson, Carl Schurz replied to a sentiment complimentary to Wisconsin as follows:

Hon. Carl Schurz of Wisconsin was introduced, and received with rounds of applause. He alluded to the recent victories in the West and East, and said the Great West sent, through him, congratulations to them of the East. He thought the friends of both sections might as well understand each other at once. He proceeded to state what they of the West thought to be true Jeffersonian doctrine.

There are three great points made by Mr. Jefferson, the first, in the Declaration of Independence—the right, the natural right of every man to self-government. On that principle, we of Wisconsin are against the enslavement of man, and oppose its extension by all constitutional means in our power. On that principle, also, we claim for all men, without distinction of creed, or birth-place, the rights of equal self-government, and we are against all proscription measures whatever.

Secondly, Mr. Jefferson, in the ordinance of '87, laid down the principle of limiting slavery to its old State limits; we go for that and say, let freedom be made universal and prevail over every acre tilled by free labor, and over every stream that contributes its share to manufacturing industry. Carry liberty, and not slavery wherever our government and institutions go.

Thirdly, Mr. Jefferson, in the Kentucky resolutions, announced the doctrine of limiting the general government to the strict exercise of its delegated powers, and that the reserved rights of the States are the best safeguards of liberty and law.

The meaning of the recent victory in Wisconsin they held to be a verdict against the enforcement of any kind of proscription. The principles of Thomas Jefferson did not run in the narrow channel of national or religious prejudice. When he spoke of the citizen he meant men; when he spoke of his country he meant the world.

He believed "our" party would be successful as soon as it deserved to be, so soon as the party would allow all friends of Freedom to join in the good work without jealousy or affront. The German heart beats instinctively for freedom.—The bells of St. Louis, which told the victory there, spoke the German dialect. The Germans of the West are liberty-loving Republicans, and can never degrade themselves to the degree of the slave-catcher, or be induced to support the slave-power.

Three cheers were then given for Carl Schurz.

☞ Theodore Parker appears to be convalescent. In the Boston Music Hall, on Sunday, letters from himself and Mrs. Parker were read. Mr. Parker writes that his health is materially improved. He bathes in the sea and rides on horseback. He remarks that he had heard that "the outside of a horse is good for the inside of a man," and his experience has proved it true. He sleeps well, and his strength has increased very encouragingly.

☞ Mr. Miller, a lawyer at Suspension Bridge who disappeared unaccountably at Buffalo a few days since, has been heard from at Frankfort, Kentucky, where he is insane and sick.

The Cuban Filibuster Excitement.

THE TRUTH IN REGARD TO THE REPORTED CUBA EXPEDITION.

[From the N. Y. Herald, 14th.]

A good deal of excitement has been created in this city and throughout the country by the statement that an expedition has been fitted out from here to Cuba, and that the island is on the eve of witnessing another filibuster excitement like that it experienced during the Lopez invasions.

We have obtained the following facts in relation to the matter from a reliable source:—Don Jose Elias Hernandez, one of the ex-members of the last Cuban Junta that was established in this city, left here about three weeks since with a small number of Cuban exiles, on board of an American schooner, with the avowed purpose of throwing themselves ashore on some part of the eastern end of the island, and endeavoring to create a revolution. None of the other members of the late Cuban Junta, nor of the Americans that were connected with their operations, have any participation in the plans of Senor Hernandez, or have lent him any countenance in his present step.

On a former occasion this same gentleman sent from here a similar expedition, though on a smaller scale, it being composed of only two men—Estrampes and Felix. It will be remembered that these two persons were arrested on board an American schooner in 1854, before landing at Baracoa, and that Estrampes was executed at Havana, while Felix was sent to the Spanish prison in Ceuta in Africa.

Rumor has largely augmented the number of Cubans that have gone with Senor Hernandez, and we have reliable information that he has no connection with any American organization of character or numbers. The Cuban residents here do not sanction his present movement, which they look upon as the height of Quixotism and folly, though very many of them sympathise with his wishes to see his country freed from its subjugation to Spain. It is not believed, either, that Senor Hernandez has connections with any extensive organization in Cuba, as he is known to hold social views which are not entertained by the great majority of the people of that island. Should the expedition ever land in Cuba, of which there are strong doubts, it can do no good to any one, and only bring destruction upon its own members.

For reasons entirely disconnected with this step of Senor Hernandez, our city has lately been visited by a number of Spanish spies. These are continually finding new proofs of the existence of a large filibuster organization here, to operate against Cuba, and all kinds of reports are circulated by them. Among the latest reports made by them to the Captain General at Havana, is one stating that the Order of the Sons of Malta is the cover of the movement they pretend to have discovered. While it is to be regretted that any enthusiasts should undertake an attempt like that we are speaking of, their movements should not be looked upon as being an expression of the popular sentiment, either in this country or in Cuba.

From Washington.

[Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Herald.]

WASHINGTON, April 14, 1859.

There is a new and very interesting phase in our relations with Nicaragua.

As has already been made known, Ran Runnels, the new Consul to San Juan, took important dispatches to Minister Lamar and the officers in command of our Home Squadron. These instructions have been reiterated and strengthened by dispatches sent still more recently.

Our Minister is to demand the immediate restoration of these steamers to the Transit Company, ample indemnity for the damage done by the destruction of the bridges and other property on the route, and any other damage that may have been sustained in consequence of the illegal seizure and other high-handed proceedings ordered by Martinez. If these demands are not acceded to at once, the whole available naval force in the Gulf, and elsewhere, that can be concentrated at San Juan in a short time will be placed at his disposal, and directed to act under his orders, even if that course should require that San Juan should again be bombarded, and all the towns in reach of the squadron's gun's should share the same fate.

The instructions also back up very strongly General Cass's despatch of last August, and assure Martinez in very unequivocal terms that this government will protect the rights of the American Transit Company.

The government has definitely resolved that the Transit route shall be opened, and has issued a circular to the several companies to ascertain upon what terms the California mail can be carried by this route from the 30th of September, 1859, to the 30th of June, 1860. The company must have the privilege of transit from Nicaragua, when our government will protect the company as far as our guns will go and if things should come to a collision, there is hardly any question but that the naval commanders would take the responsibility of landing sufficient forces to protect the passengers, mails and treasure.

The Gale at Buffalo.

[From the Buffalo Express, 15th.]

The effects of the blow in raising the water at this end of the lake were astonishing. In the creek it reached a higher point between four and five o'clock in the afternoon, than has been known before since the memorable flood in 1844. The foot of Main street was submerged at least twelve inches, and a great portion of the dock for a long distance up the creek was covered with water. The flats of course were deeply flooded, but we did not have an opportunity of visiting them to witness the extent and effects of the flood. The water fell as fast as it rose, and at 6 o'clock was but little above its ordinary level.

The cause of this rapid and excessive rise, was not the strength of the gale, which was no more violent than we frequently experience, but the sudden change of the wind. It had been blowing pretty stiffly from the east, raising the water at the upper end of the lake, and when it shifted suddenly into the west, it caused a tremendous oscillation of the water in this direction, and carried it for the instant like a vigorously swung pendulum, far beyond its usual limits.

We have not been able to learn of any particular damage wrought either by the wind or flood, but very likely we shall have some to chronicle in our next issue.

The Sickle's Trial.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune has the following observations on the proceedings of Thursday:

Mr. Stanton's manner was violent and overbearing toward the counsel, and even toward the Judge, who subsequently reproved him; but some say he should have committed him for contempt. He roared and talked violently to the jury about excluding testimony, making insinuations against the rulings, and uttering claptrap about slaves. It is said that he is in the habit of domineering over the Washington bar. The New York lawyers here who are disconnected with the case, say they never saw so bad a scene in any of their city Courts.

The applause, which was generally outside of the bar, is significant of the current of popular sympathy. After the scene, the Court for a time resembled a congressional bear garden in its worst condition. The witnesses were dragged into leading questions before the Court could forbid the answers. These inflammatory appeals and coarse language made, on the whole, a disgraceful day. The lock testimony and assertions, however, had a marked effect, and Mr. Sickles's case appeared to be decidedly helped.

Trouble on the St. Louis and Chicago Road at Brighton.

[From the Springfield Register, 15th.]

The down train on the St. Louis and Chicago Road yesterday morning, was forcibly detained at Brighton by a large body of the creditors of the road—laborers and persons who had furnished wood. The switch at Brighton had been turned, and the train was forced upon the "side track," when the switches at either end were immediately taken possession of by the crowd, who demand payment of their claims before they will permit the train to move. A train was sent up from Alton, which took down the passengers from the detained train. It is stated that the debts demanded are mainly those incurred prior to Gov. Matteson's superintendency, and that offers to pay those which have since been incurred have been made, but the prior claimants insist upon the immediate payment of the whole.

U. S. Deputy Marshal Keys, and a posse of our city police, started down on last evening's train, to arrest the detainers of the train, for stoppage of the U. S. mail. We will learn the result this morning.

Report of the Investigating Committee.

[From the Illinois State Journal.]

The Register of yesterday, in reference to the report started first, we believe, by the Springfield correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, that the Investigating Committee would probably "condense" or suppress the testimony in the matter between the State and Gov. Matteson, says, "there is no foundation for this. We were informed by a member of the Committee that the full report of the Committee's proceedings and the testimony, would be placed in the hands of the public printers for publication, in accordance with the Senate resolution. The report and testimony will make one hundred and fifty pages."

So the people, who are anxious to read the testimony for themselves, and form their own conclusions in regard to it, will be allowed an opportunity to do so.

St. Louis, Alton & Chicago Railroad.

Our readers are aware of the fact that negotiations were commenced several weeks ago between Gov. Matteson and the bondholders of the St. Louis, Alton & Chicago Railroad. It was supposed a few days ago that arrangements would be made by which the bondholders would take possession of the road and pay the employees in full. Gov. Matteson and G. T. M. Davis (representative of the bondholders) had a conference in this city yesterday. We learn that Mr. Davis was of the opinion that he could not raise more than twenty-five thousand dollars for the employees, and that he expressed a willingness to pay the balance (a very large sum—we do not know how much) out of the earnings of the road. He left for New York last evening. The whole matter is as uncertain now as it was three months ago.—Bloomington Pantagraph 15th.

☞ The Pennsylvania Legislature has recently chartered an association of gentlemen, under the title of "The Philadelphia Company for the Improvement of the Drama," whose intention is to build a Theater which shall be equal to any on the continent, in its adaptability for dramatic purposes. A large amount of stock has already been subscribed for the contemplated edifice, the cost of which is estimated at about $400,000.

CAIRO.—The correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat writes, April 10th: "One of the Messrs. Eads & Nelson's steam pumps was put down here yesterday, and will be used to pump the water out of the town, until a permanent machine can be put down. This pump is said to be capable of throwing out thirty barrels of water per minute." He mentions also that the "mosquitoes were quite troublesome here yesterday, before the rain."

☞ The celebrated English Racket player, Mitchell, challenges any of the players of the United States to meet him in a game for $20,000 a side; the choice of place to be decided by a toss, and an allowance of $800 to be made for the traveling expenses of the party who "draws" to cross the ocean.

☞ E. Rockwood Hoar, it is stated, has been nominated by Governor Banks, of Massachusetts, to fill the vacancy in the Supreme Court Bench. Mr. Hoar was formerly a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

☞ Henry Ward Beecher, the Boston Transcript states, has agreed to occupy the desk of Rev. Theodore Parker, Music Hall, some time during the coming summer.

THE CITY.

DEARBORN SEMINARY.—We have received a circular and programme of the closing exercises and examinations of this excellent institution, on to-morrow and Wednesday.

VACATION.—Our city school children are now enjoying a vacation of two weeks, the Public schools having closed their winter term on Thursday.

PEW RENTAL.—The annual rental of pews in Grace Church takes place this morning (Monday) at the church edifice, corner of Peck court and Wabash avenue. Parties can make selections from eight to ten A. M.

GODEY FOR MAY.—Godey, Arthur and Peterson for May; number 20 of our Musical Friend, and a fresh supply of the Dime Sons Book, and Stanton's Chess Player's Handbook have all been received by NcNally & Co., 81 Bearborn street.

HOUSE BLOWN DOWN.—In the gale on Thursday afternoon, a frame house on Wells street, belonging to C. R. Starkweather, and which was being raised to grade, was thrown from its temporary supports and overturned; Ten persons were in the house at the time, but none of them were injured.

☞ Messrs. Norris & Hyde, No. 100 Dearborn street have the latest New York dailies, also Harpes and Frank Leslie for the week, and the Magazines for May—Godey, etc. Also Our Musical Friend; late Boston dailies, the Independent, Home Journal, etc., etc., 100 Dearborn street.

☞ We witnessed the operation of a little patent water filter, which is the nicest thing in its way we ever saw. It would seem as if every family upon witnessing its operation would decide at once to adopt it. It was shown us by Mr. B. W. Robinson, of Boston, who is stopping at the Sherman House. We need not add that we shall use it.

A LAD SHOCKINGLY TORN BY DOGS.—A boy named William Mervin, about twelve years old, was on Friday evening attacked and shockingly torn and mangled by five dogs, which, considering their ferocity, were a more liberal than creditable supply for a butcher named Mcbelim, on Wells near Adams street. The poor little fellow was rescued by some policemen, who shot four of the dogs. Their hides might be dried and twisted into a very suitable application for the man who would allow dogs of this character to be at large in a city.

A WRETCH OF A HUSBAND.—In Saturday morning's Police Court, a man named Michael Loftus was brought up on a charge of brutally maltreating his wife. A fight had been in progress between them, when the brutal wretch drew out a knife and inflicted a gash on the woman's arm which nearly severed her hand from her body. Both parties were taken to the Armory, the wound bleeding profusely. Dr. Paoli, City Physician, was summoned, and the woman received the attention required. The miserable husband was held for further examination by Justice Akin.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—A young man named Johnston, son of a well-known expressman of this city, was arrested on Friday night, on the charge of larceny of the value of hides of over one hundred dollars, the property of a South Water street firm. The property was received at one of the railroad depots, and the elder Johnston had an order for the delivery of the same. This the young man found means of possessing himself of, and on Friday took away the hides and sold them, receiving $110 therefor in two checks on different banking institutions. He was arrested before he could get his checks cashed, and will be examined to-day (Monday). This is not the first time, we believe, that young Johnston has been in a like affair. A case against him for larceny on one of our Lake street houses, was quietly disposed off, about a year since, not to the mending of his morals or his practices, as we are sorry to see.

MESSRS. CARTER & CABERY—From the preparations of the well known house of Carter & Cabery, at their store on the Lake street corner of the Tremont House, the indications are abundant that these gentlemen are not expecting that the bottom will drop out of our city just yet, but on the contrary are looking for just the healthy and extensive trade their established reputation has secured to them. For everything in their line as a first class house, they are worthy to be made note of, not only as dealers in watches and fine jewelry, plate and plated wares, but also as extensive manufacturers of plate and jewelry, of a purity and style equal to the product of any house in the United States, thus giving a large advantage to persons desiring presentation articles or articles of utility made under their own eye and to their own taste. It is reciprocally creditable to our citizens and to Messrs. C. & C., that they have built up this branch of their business to so much prominence.

EDS. PRESS AND TRIBUNE:—The Times of Saturday contains an article of meaningless abuse against Mayor Haines, which serves to illustrate "the stupidity, ignorance and small supply of brains which exist in the official head of the" Times local column. As nothing better is expected from Snarleyow, it would not be worthy of notice, except on account of its misstatements concerning some matters of private business.

A citizen of Oswego, New York, named Stoats (Phebus! What a name!) is holder of a mortgage for some $2,500 upon a steam engine in a planing mill at the corner of Canal and Polk streets. Upon its maturity, steps were taken to foreclose, and a custodian placed in possession of the engine by the mortgagee's attorneys, a distinguished legal firm of this city. A subsequent mortgage upon the same engine is held by a gentleman living in Muscatine, Iowa. The distinguished legal firm neglected to maintain their possession and permitted the engine to be controlled by the mortgagors. Such being the case, and the junior mortgagee having a lease of the premises, his attorney took possession of the premises and engine, as legally he might; twenty days having elapsed since the first mortgage debt became due. The distinguished legal firm, in order to retrieve their negligence, sent for their client (named Stoats), and cast about for the ways and means to effect a forcible entry. The attorney for the mortgagee in possession, learning that such entry was contemplated, called upon the Mayor for a number of policemen to preserve the peace and maintain order. An attempt was made, with fifteen or twenty men, to effect an entrance, but the assaulters were frustrated by means of a good fence, a padlock, a big dog and a live Yankee; so that when the policeman arrived they found the enemy had struck their colors and retreated from the field. The controversy will be transferred therefore from the street to its appropriate place, the courts. These are the facts of the case; whoever wishes to see the mendacious fictions which have been founded upon them, may find the same in the Times, in extenso. VINDEX.

P. S.—"The citizen of Oswego, named Stoats," left this city on Friday evening in great disgust.

EXAMINATION OF WASHINGTON SCHOOL.—The examination of Washington School on Friday last was of a very interesting character. The large number of visitors present gave evidence of the increasing interest which is felt in the prosperity of the school. The pupils acquitted themselves in such a manner as to reflect the highest credit upon their instructions and upon their own diligence in study. Father Brewster was present and made some most admirable remarks. He spoke of the gratifying fact that the rattan had been superseded by kindness and reason, and that teachers had at last discovered that children are possessed of hearts as well as other people. He said that the cheering spectacle before him, "lifted half a decade of years from his shoulders." The course of Washington school is onward and upward.

STREET CLEANING.—It is proposed that first our streets shall be cleaned (which never has yet been achieved), and done by contract, (which is better than no way at all), and this at the expense of the merchants themselves, who on any of our best streets may prize sufficiently a clean street, to bear their share of the expense of the same. We learn that the proposition is very acceptable to several prominent Lake street houses, and that the block on that street between two cross streets—we do not tell which, because if the difference be not perceptible it will be literally, no matter—each night, during the coming week, the sweepings to be carefully removed early the next morning. We think there is something in the project that is promising, and shall have more to say about it.

CHICAGO, April 16, 1859.

Messrs. Editors:—Noticing in the Times of yesterday a letter signed O. G. Buck, stating that the whereabouts of any wooden or willow ware dealers in Chicago are unknown to the merchants of McGregor's, (Iowa), which he attributes to the fact of no firm in our line advertising their goods in the city papers, we would call the attention of the Times' correspondent to the fact that we have and still do advertise to a large amount in various ways, and cannot but express our surprise that Mr. Buck is unaware of the existence of our firm, which has been now doing business in the same line in Chicago for over five years! We would also mention that it is customary where one dealer receives an order for goods he does not keep, to hand it to one who does keep them. There may occasionally be exceptions to this rule, but the Times' correspondent says that twice has he written to "supposed dealers in our line, who turned out to be dealers in something else." In conclusion, we would say, that we shall be happy to fill any order, either for Mr. Buck or any one else who is able to take our goods and give the cash equivalent.

Respectfully yours,

LOCAL MATTERS.

☞ The way to wealth is as plain as the way to Cook & McLain's steam dyeing and scouring establishment, 98 Dearborn street. It is to waste neither time nor money, but to make the best use of both. Without frugality and industry, nothing will do, and the former may be well and practically carried out by calling on our friends Cook & McLain, and having your old clothes made by them fit to be worn through another season.

ATTENTION, CADETS.—All active members, and all who have belonged to this corps since its organization, are earnestly requested to assemble at its head-quarters, Lind's Block, next Tuesday evening at half-past 7 o'clock, for consideration of matters of the greatest importance to them all. ☞ Jobbers and business men of every kind can only restore prosperity to all branches of trade, including their own, by encouraging the cash system among retail dealers. This, coupled with the fact, that they can get better goods for their money of TAPPEN, at No. 102 Randolph street—as he sells only for cash—should induce them to buy of him exclusively.

☞ We have been requested to insert the following card:

A CARD.—In consequence of a very general request, I shall have the pleasure of producing Haydn's sublime and sacred work, "The Creation," on Sunday evening, April 17th, at Mechanic's Institute Hall." In addition to the members of my Troupe, an orchestra has been engaged, and many distinguished amateurs of Chicago have kindly offered their services in the choruses. Under these circumstances, I trust the rendition of this beautiful Oratorio will be worthy of the patronage of the citizens of Chicago. H. C. COOPER.

EYE AND EAR.
DR. UNDERWOOD,
Late Physician and Surgeon to the Opthalmic and Aural Institute of Louisville, Ky., whose reputation is so well known throughout the United States for skill and success as an operator on the EYE and EAR, has now been in this city twelve months, during which time he has treated with a success truly astonishing, FIFTEEN HUNDRED PATIENTS, many of whom had been totally blind for years, and others whose vision was dim and obscure from long continued inflammation of the lids, have been made to see; and others again, who had been entirely Deaf for many years, have been restored to hearing, and several others who have been deaf and dumb from infancy, have been made to hear and speak—an operation believed to have never before been successfully performed by any Surgeon on the American continent.

☞ Catarrh! Catarrh! Catarrh!
CATARRH!!—What is it? Who Cures?—Thousands of persons suffer all sorts of annoyance from Catarrh. Most people know what its inconvenience and results are, yet but few know how it can be cured. It is simply a chronic irritation, and often enlargement of follicles and consequent thickening of the mucous membrane, lining the nasal cavities, frontal sinuses, and posterior nares, and sometimes extending into the throat and lungs. From this result tightness and often vertigo of the head, obstructed nose, or a profuse flow of mucus, loss of smell, nasal voice, and often impaired hearing and taste.
The old-school remedies have never been able to do anything for it. Nasal injections and inhalations are as painful and expensive as they are generally worthless. Yet HUMPHREYS' CATARRH SPECIFIC, a simple Sugar-Pill, taken two or three times per day, promptly cures the milder cases; cures at once all colds in the head, and radically cures, by persevering use, the most obstinate cases, as is proved by the experience of hundreds.
Price, with full directions,
Fifty Cents per Box.
N. B.—A full set of Humphreys' Homeopathic Specifics, with book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; do, in plain case, $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and Book, $2.
These Remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address DR. F. HUMPHREYS & CO.

A WORD OF ADVICE.

The soldiers of the great Republican army who have borne the brunt of all the battles since the organization of the party to which they belong, will rejoice with us in the belief that the object for which they have labored is about to be accomplished—that the power of that false and fallen Democratic party is soon to be broken for ever! The recent elections have beyond doubt determined the political character of the next House of Representatives. The control of that body has passed out of their hands; and with it goes all Democratic capability for further mischief.

We submit that with the certainty of victory before us—a majority in the next Congress and a signal triumph in 1860—the effort of certain politicians and journals to merge the Republican organization into, but not imbue with its principles, a smaller, less radical, less earnest, and, we may say, less patriotic party, is a confession of political weakness with which the masses of the party can have no possible sympathy. Again we beg these gentlemen to let all such efforts be intermitted.

WISCONSIN REPUBLICANS.

We have seen of late several ill-natured remarks in some of the Wisconsin Republican papers upon the failure of the Republican party in this State to command success. Let us assure our friends of Wisconsin that if they had Arkansas hitched on to the lower end of their Commonwealth, they could not be in a worse condition, politically, than we are here. The population of Wisconsin is homogeneous—mostly, the Germans, Scandinavians and Irish excepted, of Puritan descent. It compares favorably with the four Northern districts of Illinois which are Republican by 30,000 votes any day in the year; and we hope to be pardoned if we say that Wisconsin ought to do as well! We did not give Illinois to Fremont, because of Egypt, which is more pro-slavery than South Carolina itself. But the Republicans in calling to their aid, by promises which are never broken, and by legislation which is only just, the great mass of the Protestant and Liberal voters of foreign birth, have laid the ground work of a victory, of which neither the Milwaukee Sentinel, the Madison Journal nor Janesville Gazette will complain. When they, in power and with the means of success no less potent than those that are wielded by Republicans of Illinois, can boast that they have detached the foreign vote from the Democracy in Milwaukee to which it does not, the Irish Catholics excepted, belong; and that they have won that vote from the Democracy all over their State, then they may level their reproaches at us of Illinois. Until then, their chance victories afford little reason for an assurance that they may not lose the State at the very next contest which takes place.

CONSERVATORY OF ART AND SCIENCE.

A proposition coming from several leading gentlemen, well-known for their connection with Art, Science, Education and Literature has been broached, in Boston, for founding a Conservatory of Art and Science in that city. A meeting for the elaboration of the proper plans, and for securing aid from the State, was lately held, at which Prof. AGASSIZ, Geo. SUMNER, M. P. WILDER, Hon. A. H. RICE, and others well known to the American public, were present; and from the published proceedings of that meeting, we learn what the objects are which the originators of the proposition propose to accomplish. They are:

1. The collection of works of Art, whether of painting or statuary, in a gallery open to whomsoever will visit it.

2. The establishment of a Museum of Natural History in all its branches, free to everybody.

3. A department of Mechanics, in which all labor-saving inventions and improvements may be kept and classified for the instruction of artisans and inventors.

4. A department of Agriculture which shall furnish correct analyses of soils, manures and artificial fertilizers, and which shall take the place in the national economy which that abortion, the Patent Office at Washington, is vainly striving to fill.

5. The endowment of Professorships to which inquirers may look for instruction in all the branches of Art and Industry to which the Conservatory may be devoted.

This is a noble work; and we hope to see it carried out. Massachusetts is the State in the Union to which we would naturally look for the projection of an institution of the kind; and to her sons must the appeal for its support be made. We, of the West, with whom the question of "bread and butter" is yet paramount, have more interest in the Mechanical and Agricultural departments of the Conservatory, than in its promises for Art. What these departments will be, and what a gap in our educational system they will fill, the following extract from a letter of Geo. Sumner will show:

> The parts of your plan to which I would more especially allude, are those which contemplate the formation of a Museum of Practical Geology and Metallurgy, of Agriculture, and of instruments devoted to Agriculture and to the Mechanic Arts,—a Museum which by its collections and its lectures would serve to show the practical application of science to the arts.
>
> We are justly proud of our system of common schools, untainted by the spirit of proselytism or sectarian intolerance;—but, excellent as these are, one cannot but be pained by observing how rare among us for the facilities of superior education, how, even with our many colleges, at the age of nineteen or twenty, the trapdoor is shut upon every aspirant for knowledge, who is obliged to go abroad in order to complete his studies in almost every department of science. Why may we not have what other countries have;—why may we not have proper facilities for these studies at home? Is our great and wealthy Republic unwilling to do for science what despotic rulers have done?
> "How much of precious time, of money, of activity, how much of anxious thought, how much of useful labor and ingenuity, are now squandered by our mechanics, from the want of such facilities for knowledge as the proposed Conservatory will furnish, has often come under my observation in foreign countries. One instance now occurs to me. A worthy mechanic, from a neighboring State, came to me in Paris, bringing his plans and drawings for a new process in metallurgy, by which he expected to make steel at a greatly reduced price, and to make some millions of dollars for himself. He had spent all his little capital in experiments, had sold a house which he owned to raise more money, had built up and pulled down furnaces, and finally, as he supposed, attained the great result. He sought my advice, as to the best course to pursue, in order to secure the millions which were to flow to him from his invention. After looking at his plans, I asked him to accompany me to the Conservatoire des Arts et Métiers, and there, among some old models, showed him his furnace, exactly as he had worked it out,—and in the library showed him engravings of it, and also a full description of the process, the principle of which was the same as his own. The poor man stood aghast and dumb for a time, as all his millions vanished into thin air, and then recovering speech, threw up his hands and exclaimed: "Why have'nt we in America, places like this, where our mechanics can go and find out what has been done before them, and not make fools of themselves, as I have done, and waste their time, and waste their substance in going over ground which has been already explored?" And sure enough, why have we no such place? Let the question be fairly put to the people, and see if, in a very short time, they do not demand it.

For Agriculture the Conservatory promises still more than for Mechanics. That Science in this country is but just emerging from the barbarism which enveloped it when Adam first went forth to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. The farmer, once a drudge, with no more occasion for mind than one of his oxen, has become intelligent and inventive—a man of thought and of observation. But he is yet only in the portal of the temple of honor that he must occupy. The application of the axioms of Science to lighten and remunerate his labor, has but just commenced; but he has attained wonderful results. The Conservatory promises to be a place in which his analyses and inductions can be stored. On this Mr. Sumner says again:

> In connection with that portion of the Museum devoted to Agriculture, it would doubtless be deemed essential to have a laboratory, where different soils and fertilizers could be analyzed, and such information given to every farmer as would enable him best to develop the resources under his control; such information as is freely given at the different agricultural laboratories established by the French and German Governments,—at the laboratory of Lawes at Rothamsted, in England—and, to members of the Royal Agricultural Society, at the laboratory of Way, the distinguished chemist of the Society in London.
>
> A Museum like this would, I believe, aid most powerfully in creating a greater interest in the Mother Art;—would tend to retain on their paternal acres those crowds of young men who now flock to our great cities, there to drag out a trivial existence, useless to others or even to themselves;—would aid in taking away the false mantle of "respectability" in which the unproductive drones of society wrap themselves;—would aid in [illegible] that last remnant of feudal barbarism, the contempt for labor,—and would tend to give to intelligent toil its true position of highest honor.

Those of the West who have yet reverence for the educational establishments of New England, will be sure to wish the Conservatory an early beginning and a long and prosperous career.

Mississippi Bridge.

The Clinton Herald informs us that the work of bridging the Mississippi river at that place is rapidly progressing, the piling being about one-half completed, and a large quantity of stone, ready prepared, lying upon the levee—the work of laying which is to commence immediately. A large force is employed, and has been for some two and a half months, with the expectation of having the bridge between the island and the Illinois shore completed for use the coming fall and winter. At the same time, we learn from the Lyons papers that Mr. Turner is still laboring to force his pet scheme of involving the Galena and Chicago Union Rail Road Company in the building of the Lyons Bridge, two miles above, notwithstanding the decided vote of the stockholders in October last, and although the bridge below is expressly designed to connect the railroad in Iowa, (the Chicago, Iowa, Nebraska) with the G. & C. U. R. R. Co. at Fulton. This being the only road in Iowa to be connected with, and that Company being already actively engaged in finishing the accommodations, the purpose to which Mr. T. intends, or would be able to put his bridge, could he induce the stockholders to invest some $380,000, therein, (this being the estimated cost by Mr. McAlpine) does not clearly appear; nor is it quite apparent that two bridges so near each other are demanded, nor that $380,000 should be expended at one place to accomplish that which may be done for $150,000 at another, just as convenient, and at the same distance for connection of the two roads.

We learn also from these sources that Mr. T. has lent himself and the Galena Company to the work of building a new railroad on the Iowa side, and is attempting to construct it from Lyons to Clinton, and the President of this new road informs the council of the former city that he is authorized to state that "the Galena Company will furnish the iron" therefor. The ostensible object is "to connect with the C. I. & N. R. R.," or, as also stated, "to connect the C., I. & N. R. R. with the bridge at Lyons." These acts being in open hostility to the declared and reasonable wishes of the Iowa Company, as well as to their interests—interests, it is true, partly of a local character, but those, by means of which they have been able to build their 81 miles of road, when most roads have suspended operations—and these acts committed, too, when no such interests exist on the part of the Galena Company, (whatever may be the indivdual interests of one or two of its stockholders or officers,) and when no business will be gained thereby—it is hardly to be supposed that any connection would be granted by the Iowa Company, so detrimental to its interests, and under circumstances indicating so clearly coerciveness and hostility to their wishes and local interests, and the favoring of rival ones. That the C., I., & N. R. R., desires to cultivate friendly business relations with the Galena Company, is evident in their recent memorial and in the attempts to harmonize with that Company. If there are local jealousies or rival interests in Iowa, the Galena Company has nothing to do with them, and the sooner it comes to that conclusion the better. The true course undoubtedly for that Company to pursue is to attract by friendly and judicious measures the business of 81 miles of road, seeking its natural outlet over their line, rather than to repel it by such demonstrations (futile as they seem to us,) of opposition by interfering with local quarrels or interests, or attempting to coerce connections and crossings, which cannot probably be obtained, and surely not by such measures as are now being pursued. We earnestly desire to see the large business of the Cedar Valley come to our city by means of these two roads, and we cannot look upon measures, such as we have alluded to, as calculated to conduce to that end.

Jefferson's Birthday.

The Republicans of Massachusetts celebrated the Birthday of Jefferson, on Wednesday, the 13th inst., at the Parker House, Boston, by a dinner and the usual et ceteras of festive occasions. Many distinguished members of the Republican party in other States were invited, among whom was ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois. Mr. LINCOLN politely acknowledged the courtesy of his New England friends by a characteristic letter, which we print in another column—a letter which will subject him to renewed and more bitter attacks by the Sham Democracy, but which will endear the man and his principles more and more to his political friends. Mr. LINCOLN never writes a political letter nor never makes a political speech in which the groundwork of his belief is not exposed. In the letter before us, we have a couple of his sentences, short, pithy and axiomatic, which give us a view of the rock on which he stands.

> "This is a world of compensations; and he who would be no slave, must have no slave. Those who deny freedom for others, deserve it not for themselves; and, under a just God, cannot long retain it."

This is worthy of Jefferson. Indeed, the truth and the warning could not have been better conveyed by the author of the Declaration of Independence, himself. But let us ask a reading of the entire letter, which is admirable in all its parts.

The Hawesville Tragedy.

There is another phase of this affair. The Louisville Journal recently published a statement, purporting to emanate from responsible citizens of Hawesville, justifying the assassination of Thomas S. Lowe. It now appears that the "Card" was a forgery, and that the Journal was imposed upon. The Louisville Courier of the 7th says:

> "Samuel McAdams, the father-in-law of Mr. Lowe, is referred to and published to the world as one of the signers of that document. We have a letter from Mr. McAdams, denying the authority of any one to use his name in that connection. Others whose names appear at the bottom of that communication, deny the authority of any one to use them in any such connection. They knew nothing of the document until they saw it in the Journal, and blushed for its shame and outrage both upon the living and the dead."

A Western Banker in Canada.

A Toronto correspondent of the N. Y. Times furnishes the following respecting a financial operation not wholly unknown in Illinois:

> "We have been much amused by an endeavor made by an American wild cat banker to get a charter for carrying on a bank under the name of "The Provincial Bank of Canada." One Mr. McCallom, whom some of your Wall street men know, who has established and sold at least two banks in the West, which broke down soon after his selling them, was the hero of the situation. He tried to lobby our members with presents of champagne, &c., but has failed to get his bill passed; so that the only bill he will be able to trade upon is that of the hotel keeper or wine merchant. The credit of our banks stands so high that we are very jealous of it, especially when 'cute Western men of not immaculate reputation seem inclined to meddle.

Chicago St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad.

The New York Tribune of the 14th instant, says "the scheme for the organization of the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac Railroad Company meets with favor among the bondholders, and no doubt is now entertained of its complete success. Upwards of $2,000,000 of the First Mortgage and more than $1,500,000 of the Land Grants have already assented to the terms of consolidation and subscription."

Words Well Spoken.

[From the Cincinnati Press.]

The bringing in, by Sickles, of his wife's confession, as a part of his defense—thus putting it in the way of newspaper publication all over the world—is an act of meanness of which it would be difficult to find a parallel. More than this, the act is one which, in the eyes of the discriminating, will have a retrospective effect, and place the whole proceeding, from the first, in a new and—for the defendant—not very much improved aspect. The homicide, standing by itself, was miserable enough, and cowardly enough; but there was a shadow of excuse in the real, or supposed, or pretended sentiments of honor peculiar to the set to which both parties belonged. Here, however, is a new style of practice under the code of the high-toned. This gentleman, who, during his imprisonment, blubbered over his wife and her tergiversations, professing his still-enduring love and tenderness for her in terms that touched the hearts of all the fat women and fall-stomached clergymen that were permitted to enter his presence, went to kill his injurer, armed as well for defense as for attack—with the evidence of his wife's shame to accompany his pistols. Bursting, burning, broiling—a human volcano in the hight of an eruption—he still had the discretion to prepare a document to be used on his trial, and get it properly executed and authenticated, before he proceeded to acts of inconsiderate desperation. This is the act of a coward; and will impart to all the doings of the principal in the matter, an air of unmistakable poltroonery.

Marriage of the U. S. Attorney for this District.

We cut the following from the New York Herald of the 14th inst.:

MARRIED—In Calvary Church, on Tuesday, April 12, by the Rev. Francis L. Hawks, D.D., HENRY S. FITCH, of Chicago, only son of Hon. Graham N. Fitch, United States Senator from Indiana, to ELLEN [illegible], daughter of the late J. Newton Hetzel, M. D., of Harrisburg, Pa.

THE MINNESOTA BANKS.

ST. PAUL, April 13, 1859.

Editors Press and Tribune:

I have seen, through the columns of the PRESS AND TRIBUNE, and some of the Bank Note Reporters of your city, with deep regret, the action of Chicago bankers relative to Minnesota currency; and this action seems based on the grounds that some of our currency is not good, and that what is now good, may be rendered unworthy of credit, by the substitution of stocks having no market value, not convertible, for those now deposited in the State Department as security for the redemption of the currency issued upon them. That this may be done, provided the banker demands it, and the Governor and Auditor of State consent thereto, it is useless to deny. But I think such a conclusion can be arrived at, only by supposing, first, that the banker has not intelligence sufficient to guard his own interest, or is entirely deficient in moral principle, and acting only as an agent of the Railroad interest, (in which latter case you may be sure the currency will have no credit here.) And secondly, that our Governor and Auditor of State, have very little regard for their oaths of office, the interest and safety of our people or the credit of Minnesota currency abroad.

Is it to be supposed, for a moment that a banker would be so perfectly insane, after he has established his bank on a good basis, and is in a fair way of a good foreign circulation, as to change his securities for those which have no market value, and thus at once ruin the credit of his bank? The supposition is not worth a second thought; surely none but a fool or a lunatic would attempt it; and yet this very supposition is the pretended basis of the opposition of your bankers to all Minnesota currency.

As are to be found in all States, we have some banks not worthy of credit at home or abroad. We have also those which are worthy of such credit, being based upon stocks immediately convertible in New York city, and also owned and managed by responsible parties of the highest commercial worth and integrity. Now, I submit to the candor and good judgment of your bankers, if it be right to discredit the currency of well-secured banks, because there are or may be in the same section of country, those not worthy of credit?

Suppose a merchant of your city, Mr. A. to go to New York to replenish his stock in trade, he calls on B. and after the usual compliments, A. proposes to make his purchases of B. on time. B. says I dont doubt but your house is responsible and you an upright, honorable business man; but my dear sir, you come from Chicago, where there are a great many merchants doing business on borrowed capital, or on no capital at all, and some of my neighbors have suffered great losses on their dealings with Chicago merchants, and under these circumstances I can not sell you. But says B. our house is perfectly responsible, as you can learn to your satisfaction if you will take the trouble to do so. All very fine talk, says A. but although you may be all right now, you have bad neighbors, and evil habits are contagious, I must decline your custom.

What would B. think of this kind of logic? Evidently, B. would say or think, if you have no more enlarged views than your words indicate, and not sufficient force to know who is worthy of credit, and who not, you are not the man for me to do business with. I will seek a house where the good is distinguished from the bad. No more suicidal would be the course of B., than is the action of your bankers on the interests of Chicago.

Whatever may be the future action of the bankers of Chicago, it must be evident to every intelligent, thinking man, that their adherence to their present rule, must work a permanent injury to her mercantile interest.

OHIO TREASURY DEFALCATION.

J. P. Riznor's Reply to Charges made by the Investigating Committee of Breslin's Defalcation.

Editors Press and Tribune:

In view of the mention of my name in your editorial remarks, coupled with extracts from the report of the Investigating Committee of Mr. Breslin's defalcation as Treasurer of Ohio, in your issue of the 12th March, and the conviction that you, as honorable journalists, are ever ready to afford the assailed an opportunity through your columns, to defend himself against the attacks of the assailant, you will therefore do me the favor to give this brief communication a place in your next issue.

The charges (as you represent) of misrepresentation, deception, &c., made by Mr. Breslin are as dishonorable and malicious as they are devoid of truth, while it is true that Mr. Breslin selected the City Bank of Cincinnati as one of the institutions to make deposits. It is also true that influences other than any I attempted to exert, decided him to do so. It is equally true that at the time Mr. Breslin commenced making deposits in the City Bank, and for some time thereafter, the institution was in a sound ("not rotten") prosperous condition, and in all human probability would have continued so, while under the same management, if it had not been for the base and malicious attacks subsequently made by Mr. Morgan, one of the Investigating Committee, then Auditor of State of Ohio, which attacks were influenced by considerations growing out of a personal difficulty between Breslin and Morgan in relation to the handling of the public funds of Ohio. When I resigned my connection with the bank on account of ill-health, more than a year before it was placed in the hands of receivers, the means of the bank were ample to meet its liabilities. I have no doubt Mr. Breslin's charges against me were the result of influences exerted upon him by persons who were connected with the bank while my relations with the same existed, and who had the control and management after my connection ceased, for the purpose of diverting his attention from these iniquitous practices in the use of the means of the bank for their own private purposes.

In relation to the draft of $5,000 drawn by Mr. Camp and accepted by me, being one of the claims, as represented in your article, turned out by Mr. Chittenden to Mr. Breslin, I hold in my possession the evidences of the payment of said draft. In view of the fact that I am not conscious of having been a party either directly or indirecly to the frauds perpetrated upon the Treasury of Ohio, and the aversion of trespassing upon the columns of a newspaper I content myself with the foregoing.

I may, however, think it proper, after seeing Mr. Breslin's statement, to make a more extended statement. JOHN P. RIZNOR.

Crops and Farming in Ford County.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

PROSPECT CITY, Ford Co., Ill., April 15, 1859.

We have had more rain than common this spring, notwithstanding we have very nice weather now. Crops look very favorably for the time of year—fall wheat never looked better. Farmers exerted themselves last fall, sowing very large quantities of wheat in all parts of the county. One farmer, fifteen miles west of Prospect City, sowed one thousand acres of fall wheat, which looks very well. If the rest of the season is favorable, he will raise some thirty-five thousand bushels of wheat.

Some would like to know what the cost of improving land would be fifteen miles off the railroad. I would just say that the farmer spoken of above got his land fenced, broke and sowed in wheat for a cost of seven dollars per acre. Farmers are making calculations to farm extensively down here this summer. If we do not raise a large amount of grain this year, it will not be our fault, sure. E. S.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

ELEMENTS OF MECHANICS: For the Use of Colleges, Academies and High Schools. By William G. Peck, A. M., Adjunct Professor of Mathematics, Columbia College. New York, A. S. Barnes & Burr, 51 and 53 John St. For sale by W. B. Keen, Chicago.

This is a much needed volume. It occupies a place between the higher treatises which the students of Academies and Schools would fail to comprehend, and the mere elementary books fitted for the use of boys. Prof. Peck has done justice to his work, and the printers and binders have clothed his labor in proper habiliments. The book will be a success.

The Sickles Defense.

[From the Philadelphia Press.]

WASHINGTON, April 8, 1859.

In connection with the ball, I may remark that it does not fit the Derringer pistol picked up in the street some twenty-five minutes after the affray of the 27th of February. I saw it tried. The evidence goes to show that Sickles had a revolver, and only used a revolver, and the consequent presumption is, that the Derringer, which had an exploded cap on when found, belonged to Key. It was from this, probably, that Sickles retreated. Among the many speculations is that the first shot heard was from Key, taking for granted that he had this Derringer, and that Sickles first snapped. He then retreated, and was followed up by Key, who, knowing he had fired and that Sickles did not, flung the empty pistol to further disconcert Sickles, or with a natural movement in self-defence. (The spot where the pistol was found would seem to strengthen this surmise.) Sickles having mastered his weapon, returned, facing Key, who retreated, and fired the shot which took effect in Key's groin.

Our New Minister to Spain.

[Paris Correspondence of the New York Times.]

A friend in Madrid writes that, although Mr. Preston has made a favorable impression personally, nevertheless he will find his position a most disagreeable one, since the public mind is ever morbidly excited on the subject of Cuba. The Spanish people have generally arrived at the conclusion that they are going to lose the island—not by sale, but by seizure—and this circumstance gives to the island, in their eyes, a factitious value. Mr. Preston had already given several dinners, and was endeavoring to conciliate the good-feeling of the political world. Mr. P., although a Presbyterian, left his two grown daughters in the convent of the Sacre Coeur at Paris, to continue their education—an institution of immense wealth and influence, managed entirely by nobly-born ladies, who have retired from the world to devote themselves to religious and educational pursuits—and which truth it may be added, to proselytism.

SIGNIFICANT.—We are informed that there are applications now in the hands of the Receiver, for all the "bit [illegible] lands" in the southern part of this State. It will be remembered that no one person can apply for more than three hundred and twenty acres. These lands are very rapidly becoming settled upon and improved by free white men.—Missouri [illegible]

IMPORTANT FROM JAMAICA.

INSURRECTION OF THE BLACKS.

Troops Dispatched against them—An Affray in the Streets of Jamaica—Soulouque's Opinion of his Fellow Negroes.

The N. Y. Courier des Etats Unis has a private correspondence from Kingston, Jamaica, dated March 29, from which we translate the following:

"Encouraged by the acts of their neighbors, the Haytiens, our blacks appear also disposed to attempt a revolution. In the parish of Westmoreland has recently been imposed a new tax, to which the negro population are not willing to submit. Some of the disaffected raised the standard of revolt, and entered the little village of Savannah, where they destroyed some property. The police having arrested some of the ringleaders, their partisans, far from being discouraged, continued their work of destruction, menacing with fire the City Hall, if the prisoners were not released. Informed of these facts, Governor Darling has dispatched against the revolters a body of five hundred men under the command of Col. Whitefield.

"As these troops were marching towards the place of embarkment, they met a long file of carts upon which were perched a number of blacks, attracted thither by the sound of the drums and trumpets. These people blocked up the passage from the soldiers, and the colonel ordered them to retire. His order producing no effect, it was necessary to unsheathe the weapons, and the sword of Colonel Whitefield, which probably had not seen the light since the battle of Waterloo, fell upon the shoulders of more than one of the poor wretches.

"Soulouque, who lived near by, beheld these exploits from his window. Far from grieving over the strokes under which the negroes suffered, he contemplated the scene with evident delight. 'Ah!' cried he, 'the whites at last begin to understand how negroes must be treated; sweet words are not for them; they need blows and knocks.' Soulouque evidently adheres to his own system, and his misfortunes have not yet cured him of his delusions."

Revolt in Cuba.

The following is the article which, in the New York Sun, has created the belief in the public mind that the next arrival from Cuba will bring intelligence of a general revolt against the Spanish authorities:

"We seek to raise no idle excitement. We have good reason for the belief that if the flame of revolt has not already kindled in the island of Cuba it will be before the end of this week. The Cubans have, by many bitter disappointments, realized the truth of the poet's lines, that—

'Who would be free
Themselves must strike the blow.'

"Therefore, ever since their abandonment by Quitman and others, their betrayal by professed friends in the United States, and the squandering of the resources of the revolution which they had collected, they have devoted themselves to a new plan, in which the initiative and the first effort for freedom should be exclusively Cuban. Upon this basis they have organized patriot clubs throughout the island, and the members count by thousands. Their copatriots in the United States have aided all their plans, and will share with them in the dangers and the glory of the struggle for Cuban rights.

"All the stories set afloat about the organization of American expeditions are wide of the truth. This last is a pure Cuban movement. The first of this month was the time fixed by the clubs throughout the island for a general rising; and, unless their plot has been discovered, or some untoward event has happened, they are now in arms against their oppressors.

"The New York Convention of Cuban patriots—a small but determined band—sailed on their dangerous mission in the latter part of March. If the patriots in the island had not already risen on the day fixed, the landing of the New York Convention would be the signal for revolt. Arms and ammunition have been provided, and all are bound by a solemn obligation to stand by the cause until victory crowns their effort, or the last man has fallen. Most of the Cubans who have gone from New York are young men; many of them sons of the leading men of the island, and all fired with the determination to free their native soil, or die in the attempt. They go forth taking their lives in their hands."

Presentation of Lord Lyons.

WASHINGTON, April 12, 1859.

Lord Lyons, on being presented to President Buchanan to-day by Secretary Cass, made the following remarks:

"MR. PRESIDENT: My first duty in addressing you, as the Envoy of Her Britannic Majesty, is in obedience to Her Majesty's express command, to assure you of her esteem and regard for you, and of her hearty wishes for the welfare of the great nation of which you are the Chief Magistrate. Her Majesty has nothing more at heart than to maintain the friendship and good understanding so happily existing between the Government of Great Britain and that of the United States. The vast importance of the relations between the two countries would cause me to tremble in entering upon the duties of the honorable post to which the confidence of my sovereign has called me. I am sustained, however, by the conviction that the good will and kind feeling which animate the Government and people will remedy my personal deficiency. I must entreat you, sir, to view with indulgence the humble efforts which I shall constantly make to merit your approbation, and to give effect to the cordial and friendly intentions of the Queen and of Her Majesty's Government. I have now, sir, the honor to place in your hands the letter of credence which Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to intrust to my care."

The President then replied to his Lordship:

"My Lord, I give you a cordial welcome as the diplomatic representative of your sovereign to the Government of the United States. I receive with much gratification the expression of Her Majesty's hearty wishes for the welfare of the United States, as well as her earnest desire to maintain the friendship and good understanding now so happily existing between the two respective Governments. These assurances proceeding from a sovereign who is universally esteemed by the people of the United States, and by none of them more than by myself, are calculated to produce the best effect on the relations between the two countries. On our part, these sentiments are cordially reciprocated toward Her Majesty and the British people. You do not, you cannot, too highly appreciate the importance to the people, both of Great Britain and the United States, of maintaining most free, friendly, commercial and political intercourse with each other. The desirable end will be best secured by a frank and manly diplomacy, so congenial to the character of the two nations, and also, so far as known to us, your own character."

Cheap Railroad Freights—A New Competition for Western Freight and Travel.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, 14th.]

We hear of contracts at 25c per cwt. from New York to Chicago via the Central Road, and the River, for fourth class freight, and on cattle from Buffalo at $55 per car. Contracts are offered via the Allentown Road when completed, as low as $4 per head from Chicago to this city, equal to $60 per car for the whole distance. At such prices as these the stockholders of the railroads suffering from this competition for the Western business, will look in vain for dividends upon their investments. In addition to the competition for the Western business, which the New-York roads have had to contend with from Baltimore and Philadelphia, the new and shorter route from the West directly to this city via Allentown and the New Jersey Central Road, must now be met. The Allentown link, which completes the line, will be finished and opened on the 21st April, and will constitute an unbroken guage between Chicago and this city, seventy-five miles shorter than any other line. This route will be a strong competition for the through business, and has already commenced by offering contracts for cattle at $4 per head, while the previous rate has averaged about $10 per head.

Shipwreck, Butchery and Cannibalism.

The ship St. Paul left Hong Kong for Sydney, with 327 Chinese passengers, and on the night of the 30th of September was totally wrecked on the Island of Rossel. Capt. Pennard, her commander, and eight of his crew, left the island in one of the boats, to endeavor to make the land and obtain assistance, and were picked up by the Prince of Denmark schooner, on the 15th of October, inside Sir Everard Home's Group, and conveyed to New Caledonia. Immediately on learning the news of the disaster, the authorities at New Caledonia dispatched the French steamer Styx to ascertain the fate of those left on the island. The Styx arrived here on the 25th of January, having left Rossel on the 8th inst., and brought the horrifying intelligence that the whole of the passengers and remainder of the crew had been killed by the natives, with the exception of one Chinese, who has been brought on to Sydney. This individual furnished the Sydney Morning Herald with the particulars of the massacre of the whole party, most of whom were roasted and then devoured by the natives.

Sale of Railroad Bonds.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, 14th.]

Messrs. Decoppet & Co. have just concluded a negotiation of $350,000 of the 7 ℘ cent. bonds of the Toledo, Logansport and Burlington Railroad Company. These bonds are a portion of the $800,000 secured by a first mortgage of which the remainder, $450,000, were used for the purchase of iron by Robert Benson & Co., of London, through Messrs. M. K. Jesup & Co. of this city. This road connects the Peoria and Oquawka Road with the Toledo and Wabash, a distance of 61 miles. The negotiation of the above bonds secures the completion of the road, which it is expected will be ready for business by October next. The peculiar feature of these bonds consists in their being received under contract by the connecting roads extending from Logansport to Buffalo for one-half the freight charges on all business passing over the connecting roads to or from the Toledo, Logansport and Burlington. This will furnish a constant absorption for them, and it is estimated that in three to five years they will be all absorbed.

Terrible Snow Storm—Probable Loss of Life on the Plains.

Recorder McCosh received a letter yesterday from his son George, dated Florence, Nebraska, April 5th, stating that there were then eighteen inches of snow on the ground, and it had drifted terribly. A dreadful storm of wind had prevailed, prostrating almost everything in its way. No covered wagon or tent could stand before it. It is feared that there has been much loss of life on the plains among the emigrants, and certainly a great deal of suffering at the least. We shall look with anxiety for the full details of this snow and wind storm.—Davenport Gazette, 15th.

VERY CHASTE!—In his "Lectures on Authors," Mr. S. C. Hall describes Mary Russell Mitford. Her face, like her figure, was broad and round, but pleasant and good-humored, and indicative rather of intelligence than of genius. Of the art of dress she knew nothing. On her way to an evening party at the lecturer's house, she purchased a most unbecoming yellow turban, which caused her to be for some time an object of merriment, owing to the fact of the shopkeeper from whom she had bought it having forgotten to remove from behind it a large ticket bearing the printed inscription, "Very chaste—only 5s. 6d."

JEFFERSON'S BIRTH DAY IN BOSTON.

Letter from Abraham Lincoln.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 6, 1859.

GENTLEMEN:—Your kind note, inviting me to attend a festival in Boston, on the 13th inst., in honor of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, was duly received. My engagements are such that I cannot attend.

Bearing in mind that about seventy years ago two great political parties were first formed in this country; that Thomas Jefferson was the head of one of them and Boston the head-quarters of the other, it is both curious and interesting that those supposed to descend politically from the party opposed to Jefferson, should now be celebrating his birth-day in their own original seat of empire, while those claiming political descent from him have nearly ceased to breathe his name everywhere.

Remembering, too, that the Jefferson party was formed upon its supposed superior devotion to the personal rights of men, holding the rights of property to be secondary only, and greatly inferior, and then assuming that the so-called Democracy of to-day are the Jefferson, and their opponents the anti-Jefferson parties, it will be equally interesting to note how completely the two have changed hands as to the principle upon which they were originally supposed to be divided.

The Democracy of to-day hold the liberty of one man to be absolutely nothing, when in conflict with another man's right of property. Republicans, on the contrary, are for both the man and the dollar, but in cases of conflict the man before the dollar.

I remember being once much amused at seeing two partially intoxicated men engage in a fight with their great-coats on, which fight, after a long and rather harmless contest, ended in each having fought himself out of his own coat and into that of the other. If the two leading parties of this day are really identical with the two in the days of Jefferson and Adams, they have performed the same feat as the two drunken men.

But soberly, it is now no child's play to save the principles of Jefferson from total overthrow in this nation.

One would state with great confidence that he could convince any sane child that the simpler propositions of Euclid are true; but nevertheless, he would fail, utterly, with one who should deny the definitions and axioms. The principles of Jefferson are the definitions and axioms of free society. And yet they are denied and evaded, with no small show of success. One dashingly calls them "glittering generalities." Another bluntly calls them "self-evident lies." And others insidiously argue that they apply only to "superior races."

These expressions, differing in form, are identical in object and effect—the supplanting the principles of free government, and restoring those of classification, caste and legitimacy. They would delight a convocation of crowned heads plotting against the people. They are the vanguard—the miners and sappers of returning despotism. We must repulse them, or they will subjugate us.

This is a world of compensations; and he who would be no slave must consent to have no slave. Those who deny freedom to others deserve it not for themselves; and, under a just God, cannot long retain it.

All honor to Jefferson—to the man who, in the concrete pressure of a struggle for national independence by a single people, had the coolness, forecast and capacity to introduce into a merely revolutionary document an abstract truth, applicable to all men and all times, and so to embalm it there that to-day and in all coming days it shall be a rebuke and a stumbling block to the very harbingers of re-appearing tyranny and oppression.

Your obedient servant,

A. LINCOLN.

Messrs. H. L. PIERCE and others, etc.

The Financial States of the West.

[From the North American and U. S. Gazette.]

MR. EDITOR:—In yesterday morning's issue, included in some editorial remarks upon a clipping from the Evansville (Indiana) Inquirer, you ask the question: "How can these Western people pay such rates of interese (ten per cent.) in the present condition of their affairs?" Having lived in the West for a number of years, I feel myself competent to judge of Western men, Western enterprise, Western interests, and the present condition of that section.

1. The Banks. The crash of 1857 was precipitated by the failure of the Ohio Life and Trust Company, said failure being rapidly followed by the universal suspension, as it was denominated, of all the Eastern banks, with here and there an exception. In the West, on the contrary, Ohio paid specie for every dollar of her currency, nor did more than five of the numberless banks of Illinois and Wisconsin suspend, and of those five, with one exception, every dollar of circulation was well secured and will ultimately be redeemed.

2. The standing of the merchants. While the merchants of Philadelphia fell before the blast, like the trees of the forest before the rushing gale, and now, with uprooted trunks and leafless branches, still encumber the march of trade, the statistics, as gathered by Douglas & Co.'s commercial agency, prove to a demonstration that, in Chicago, in proportion to the number in business and amount of capital employed, there were fewer failures, and a better per centage was paid by the bankrupts, than in any other city of this Union.

3. I have alluded to the condition of our banks and standing of our merchants as a corollary, and necessary to the direct answer to your question. There is an immense emigration continually pouring in upon our rich prairies. In every direction farm-houses and villages, teeming with life and energy, are springing up, and from absolute demand, not speculative mania, land is rapidly and intrinsically rising in value. Take Chicago as an example. In four years her population has doubled, and she now numbers inhabitants to the amount of one hundred and twenty thousand. She is the commercial centre of our leading railroad lines, and the great outlet for the whole Northwest, whose commerce whitens every lake, and even now stretches forth her arm and spans the ocean itself. The natural advantages of her position are such that, though wonderful in her infancy, no one can calculate her future greatness.

WESTERN NEWS ITEMS.

GOING AHEAD.—The Mt. Vernon (Iowa) News says: "Work has been resumed on the railroad track between here and Lisbon, and the ties and iron are being put down as fast as a strong force can do it, and if the weather continues favorable we shall have the pleasure of announcing in our next issue that the cars are running to this place. In sixty days we shall have the pleasure of paying our Cedar Rapids friends a visit."

ROBBERY ON THE CARS.—As the morning express train on the Eastern Extension Railroad was approaching this city yesterday, and while between Washington and Peoria, a man by the name of Buzzard, a resident of Elkhart, Illinois, discovered that he had been robbed of his pocket book, containing forty dollars in money, and notes with other valuable papers to the amount of one thousand dollars or more.—Peoria Transcript, 15th.

CLOSED.—The Banking House of Geo. Selleck, in this city, suspended payment on the morning of Wednesday last. Mr. Selleck has ever been considered one of our soundest business men, and his suspension at this time was altogether unlooked for, by the large mass of our citizens. What causes have worked to produce his failure we are unable to state. This unhappy affair, at this time is most deeply to be deplored, and will work more serious results in our business relations, than most are inclined to believe. A large number of our country friends deposited with Selleck, and being deprived of the use of their money, at a time when it is so scarce, will place many of them in embarrassing positions. We are informed that Mr. Selleck will secure all his depositors against loss. Every business man must regret the suspension.—Grundy County Herald.

EMIGRANTS TO CALIFORNIA.—A few days ago we noticed a train of emigrants passing through this city on their way to Oregon. Yesterday a cavalcade passed through our streets on their way to California. The Company were from South Bend, Indiana, and comprised fifteen men and three women—if any youngsters we didn't see them. They had four wagons each drawn by four stout horses. They were driving twenty-one fine looking horses. The leader of the company has been in California nine years, and knows just what he is doing. His wife has been across the plains once, so that she understands the hardships she has to encounter. The company attracted a great deal of attention as they passed through our streets. They have a long journey before them, and one of toil and trouble, yet not without its pleasures and excitement.—Davenport Gazette.

DR. CUTTER'S IMPROVED
Skirt Supporter,
Is an Article of Great Utility, which should be WORN BY EVERY FEMALE.
This Supporter takes the weight of the skirt upon the Shoulders, the proper place, and relieves the stomach and abdomen, of that confinement and downward pressure, which is, by the most able Physicians, said to be the greatest cause of so much weakness, and premature death among females.
By taking the weight of clothes from off the stomach upon the shoulders, one is enabled better to stand erect, and thereby expand the chest and breath more freely. This, every sensible person knows, is necessary to the full enjoyment of health.
There are few ladies who have worn their clothes supported by the waist who have not realized the faint, and often distressing feeling, and weakness of back consequent thereto. Then why not from others take warning ere it be too late.

H. M. HIGGINS, MUSIC PUBLISHER, 45 Lake street, has still on hand the largest stock of Musical merchandise kept by any other house in the Northwest. I am Sole Agent for the celebrated "Model Melodeon," made by Mason & Hamlin, Boston; also, agent for Lighte, Newton & Bradbury's PIANOS, with the "Patent Arch Wrest Plank," which is used by no other manufacturers in the world, and is the most important mechanical improvement. Instead of using iron, as most makers do—which gives the instrument a metallic and disagreeable sound—or using wood in the ordinary way, which renders it necessary to weaken the part of the instrument wherein the greatest possible strength is required—by cutting across the grain of the wood, Lighte, Newton & Bradbury have a method whereby they spring this patent Wrest into proper form by the aid of steam and powerful machinery. A strain of ten tons will make no impression on the arch, while the fibres of the wood instead of being weakened by the continuity being interrupted at short distances, have their natural power of resistance greatly augmented by the peculiar form they are made to assume in the Patent Arch Wrest. Every instrument is warranted.

SOMETHING NEW!!!
MITCHELL'S PATENT
Metallic-Tipped Boot and Shoe.
An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every Boot and Shoe Dealer knows that Children will wear out at the toe the best constructed shoe in four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty.
THE "METALLIC TIP"
meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the Boot or Shoe, affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stamper ineffectual to kick or wear it out.
We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others, will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supersede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tips will outwear two to three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two-thirds in the expense of shoes.
MESSRS. WADSWORTH & WELLS, OF CHICAGO,
Have been appointed Agents for the sale of the Boots and Shoes, and are authorized to dispose of Town and County Rights.
Communications addressed to them or the undersigned will receive proper attention.
CHASE, McKINNEY & CO.,
46 and 50 Water st., Boston, Mass.
N. B.—This invention is a complete protection from the cutting of the Prairie Grasses, and is especially adapted to Miners' use, and all occupations which particularly expose the toe of the boot or shoe to being cut or worn. ja28d1-ly

Bound together, they make the most valuable—in fact, the only history of the commerce of this city and the Northwest, that has ever been published. Merchants and others desirous of preserving this history, or of sending it to their Eastern friends, as evidence of the growth and prosperity of this young city, will find this the only chance to get it. NOTICE is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Illinois Stone Company will be held at the Company's Office in Lemont, Cook county, Ill., on Tuesday, the 3d day of May next, at 2½ o'clock P. ap13 c871 1m J. W. McGINNISS, Sec'y.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all Shareholders of the stock of the Dement Building Association to meet on the 20th day of April, at No. 51 South Clark street, in Chicago, for the purpose of electing five additional Directors.
As the Dement House is not likely to be freed from the incumbrance resting upon it, it cannot be considered as belonging to the Association, and consequently fifty thousand dollars of stock which was to be given for it will not be issued, and will be withheld from the capital stock, leaving the entire capital stock, thirty thousand dollars, instead of eighty thousand, as was originally contemplated. Holding, as I do individually, a majority of the capital stock, I feel a particular desire that all stockholders should be present in person or by proxy, to vote. I will at the same time assure them that I shall not cast a single vote, but leave it entirely to the other shareholders to make their election and plan of policy to be adopted by the company, as I am satisfied that what will be their interest will be mine, and I desire to avoid any grounds whatever for even a suspicion of unfairness on my part.

DR. G. J. LEEDS'
QUININE SUBSTITUTE,
Or, Nerve Tonic,
WILL CURE FEVER AND AGUE,
Also, Yellow, Chagres and Panama Fevers can often be prevented by the use of this invaluable remedy. The recipe is from a very celebrated Physician after thirty-five years experience in Hospitals and private practice in New York City and has been tested in all sections of the country during the past six years with the most wonderful success. In the Western and Southwestern country, where Fever and Ague prevail, it has accomplished much by curing the disease as well as renovating and recuperating the system already shattered by the use of Quinine, Morphine and Mercury, or from too free use of the trashy nostrums, such as are daily being forced upon the unsuspecting invalid. To all suffering from prostration after disease I recommend and guarantee this Medicine as a perfect Tonic. To travellers in unhealthy climates, I would use the words of the well known Captain John W. Munson, now of a Liverpool Packet Line, and many years in the Southern and South American Coasting trade. "I would as soon think of going to sea without a rudder as without the Quinine Substitute."

A PERFECTLY TRIUMPHANT
FOR ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM MALARIA;
Particularly Fever and Ague.
Chills and Fever, and all diseases arising from that condition of the Liver so universally produced by the malaria and fogs of the West. Such as diseased or torpid liver, enlargement of the spleen, or Ague Cake in the side, Bilious, Intermitting, Remittent Fevers, and, indeed, all diseases arising from a billious condition of the system. Its ingredients are all vegetable, and perfectly harmless in their effects, and perfectly certain to cure. Reader, if you desire to save money and time, and get your health, take it at once, instead of those things which only palliate while they do not cure.
MOLINE, Ill., Feb. 19, 1857.
MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO.—Gents: We find your Ague Balsam superior to any remedy in our market for the permanent cure of all malarious diseases. We cheerfully recommend it as worthy that great name it has wherever sold and used.
Very truly yours, RICHARDS & THOMAS.
GALION, Ohio, April 1, 1858.
To the sufferers of chills, fever and ague, I submit the following: Having observed closely the effects of Dr. Mann's Ague Balsam in this vicinity for the past three years, I am well pleased with its remedial virtues as an antidote to malaria. I have frequently used it in my practice, and with entire satisfaction. From my intimate knowledge of this compound, I recommend it as safe, pure and first class.
N. E. HECKEDORN, D. M.
BLUFFTON, Ind., May 17, 1858.
MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO.—Gents: Having sold your Ague Balsam for the last three years to scores of persons in this vicinity, and closely observing its effects, we do not hesitate in saying we believe it the best remedy ever sold in Indiana, and will effectually cure chills, fever and ague without fail.
Truly yours, PHILLIMAN & KEARNS, Druggists.
LOGANSPORT, Ind., Sept. 13, 1858.
DR. MANN:—Please send me one-half gross more of your Ague Balsam immediately. It is in great demand, and may be truly styled the King of Fever and Ague.
J. LYTLE, Physician and Druggist.
LEONIDAS, Michigan, June 18, 1858.
MESSRS. S. K. MANN & CO., Galion, Ohio—Gents: I have to say that I have for several months been completely prostrated by chills fever and ague, and as I have a large family who were dependent upon my labor for their existence, I have tried in vain all the ague remedies in my reach (and they are legions) but I found none to cure until I used your Ague Balsam. I have never shook or had a particle of fever since the first dose, but I have since used the third bottle. I have now been sound for three months, and I am confident it is the only thing that will cure the ague.
Yours truly, G. P. WOOD.

☞ One of the most prevalent, and at the same time troublesome and painful diseases that attend the human flesh, is the Fever and Ague. For a long time the medical world have been continually bringing forth some new specifics for its permanent cure; but all without effect. Dr. J. Hostetter, an experienced and celebrated physician, has succeeded in furnishing the public with a valuable preparation for the cure of Fever and Ague. The steady and increasing demand lately made for the "Bitters," and the universal success attending its use, have made for it a reputation unsurpassed by any specific of the kind. For the cure of Fever and Ague, Dr. Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters stand and should claim a superiority over any other preparation extant.
For sale by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere. ap13 w2w

☞ A Word of Warning.—There is nothing more despicable than stealing the reputation of a reliable article to impose upon the community an inferior and worthless one, and yet it is often done. Fifteen years ago, Heimstreet & Co. introduced a Hair Restorative, under the name of "Inimitable Hair Coloring." Its wonderful restorative properties were wonderfully popular, and grey and bald heads were likely to become a thing of the past, when the country was flooded with imitations, the use of which was not only useless but absolutely injurious. The original preparation is a scientific combination, made with oil and stimulating spirits, affording an agreeable hair wash, while all the imitations are made of water, making the hair harsh, dry and frizzy, requiring, after it dries, the use of oil or grease to make it look decently. We would therefore advise our readers to buy nothing but the original Inimitable Hair Coloring or Restorative, which is reliable.—(Troy Whig.

THE LIGHT OF THE BLIND MAN'S HOME.

A Story of the Granite State.

Concluded.

"If you go back without seeing our Ann, she won't live a year longer. Her heart's bound up in you. I might as well own it as look on and see her,——" but a great sob, which would not be choked down, stopped him.

"And you blame me?" William began, but the bitter emphasis changed to a tone tremulous with feeling as he grasped his friend's hand to ask, "Will Ann see me? Will your father?"

"Father," interrupted Thomas, vehemently, "He just begins to see what he has done. He wouldn't have you go back to Lowell for any money, if he wasn't afraid to say so. You call round to-night and talk with him, won't ye?"

And Thomas hurried away in earnest this time. It was well for both that they were alone with their emotions.

What we already know of Ann's history will account for her recovery, and explain, as far as words may, her happiness, as letters, neither few nor brief, kept her faithfully informed of William's success in the machine shops, and of other matters, more interesting to Ann no doubt, which do not espicially concern us. Latent facilities, which he had never dreamed of possessing, had been developed while employed about the machinery of the mills, for in this last letter he had spoken of a successful invention, which he hoped soon to bring out, and which promised to make his fortune.

Ann's heart overflowed with joy. Although she had always understood William better than anybody else could, it was pleasant to see him thus winning his deserts. If her father's and mother's hearty appreciation of his worth, equalled their entire forgetfulness of their earlier opinions, Ann was too unwordly to suspect them, too happy in the present to be haunted by the past. Alas? that a single cloud should dim such prosbects; true it was but a speck at first that darkened the smiling heavens, yet it grew like a summer tempest. At first, William wrote, but not despondingly, of a slight weakness, a trifling inflamation of the eyes, which would hinder him from study or experiments for a little time, and delay the bringing out of his invention. A less cheerful letter briefly stated that his physician had forbidden all labor or study for a little time. An ominous silence ensued and then came a letter,—Ann's heart sunk when she glanced at it,—in a strange hand writing.

An intimate friend had written what William dictated. He was going to consult a distinguished occulist in New York. "We shall not meet again, Ann, if his opinion is unfavorable," said he in closing, "but keep up good courage,—I hope much from his skill."

Eagerly did Ann obey him, hoping on until the death blow of hope came, in one last, cold, stern epistle, oh! how unlike William in its severity!

"It is all over, Annie,—I am blind, blind. Not another ray of hope to mock me. You are free. I shall never see you again, never; and may God grant that your eyes may never behold me in my humilation. Forget me. We must not meet again. I have done with hope, done with life. God bless you, even as he has cursed me. Farewell."

We cannot speculate upon the tears which fell upon these words, wrung from a desolate and despairing heart. The frail child, whose heart had been well nigh broken in her early trial, rose up from this terrible affliction, a woman, strong in purpose, and Heaven-supported for the work she had to do.

One bright morning in spring, Ann Warren stood by the small mirror in her own room, adjusting her simple toilet. The old apple tree crowded a spray of fragrant blossoms in at the open window; Ann gathered one to fasten in the braids of her hair, and then bowed her head to weep over the memories it had awakened. Only a year ago, and how quickly William noticed them and stooped to admire their color and fragrance. It might have been the cheek, tinted with a hue more lovely than the buds, that he thought of most, but he would never see that, nor springtime, nor happiness again. What were the apple blossoms to Ann now;—she drew them out, and propped them there to wither.

Her eyes were wet with weeping, when her mother entered. Mrs. Warren seemed annoyed, as she noticed them. I believe that child means to kill herself. She cries half the time, said she, in thought. Ann had turned away and seemed very busy with her shawl and bonnet.

"You going out?" queried her mother. "Your eyes are as red as ferrets." She reviewed, leisurely, a pile of sewing which lay upon the table, for no reply came to her question.

"I've got the house work all done up, and I thought, mebbe, you'd like to finish fitting that calico of mine. I haint a single dress that's decent for afternoons."

"Will not some other time do as well, mother?" she asked quietly, and then confronting her, she added; "Mother, I am going up to Mr. Bradley's." She seemed to understand perfectly, just how many words were needed to raise the storm of indignation, which she was prepared to meet, for she added nothing more.

"Ann Warren!" screamed her mother, "why you're beside yourself. What will your father say, I'd like to know! As long as William had sense enough to break off, I'm sure I'd let him see that I could live without him."

"If I had married William before he became blind, would you have advised me to desert him."

"Nonsense! that's quite another story. If you do go there to-day, I can see how it will end. It aint your duty to tie yourself down to a blind man."

A shiver ran through the girl's veins as the last words fell upon her ear; but she added, in her patient, deprecating way; "Mother, I've thought this all over." She did not say prayed over it, but pausing reverently, added, after a little, "I believe I know my duty, mother."

"I should think you did!" screamed Mrs. Warren again, in angry excitement; but Ann was already beyond the reach of her shrill tones, hurrying across the field toward Mr. Bradley's residence.

Mrs. Bradley was at work in her kitchen, when Ann Warren stole softly in at the open door. Silence and sadness pervaded the house, although subeams flooded the room with their radiance, while the glad sounds of awakening life came in through the open windows. She started nervously, as the advancing shadow caused her to look up from her work, to encounter those tearful, wistful eyes, eloquent with inquiries.

"Why it's you, Ann Warren!" she exclaimed, under her breath, as she cautiously closed the doors, and then came to sit down by her side. "Why, you poor child, how altered you do look?" She grasped Ann's cold hand between both her own warm palms caressingly, and both wept silently for a time. "It's a comfort to me, Ann, to see you. This trial; perhaps I oughtn't to say as William does, that it had been better if he had died. The Lord knows best. But there aint a bit of use your comin', so. William wouldn't have you see him for the world. He hardly speaks to me, his mother. Poor boy! who can blame him?"

"May I go up, Mrs. Bradley?"

The eager question made an entire change in Mrs. Bradley's manner. Drawing herself up, she answered coldly, more so than you would have deemed possible, with those blue eyes so wistfully looking into hers for permission:

"I don't see any use in it. No, I've nothing in the world against you, child, but it would only harrow up William's feelings for nothing. The match is broken off, and properly enough, for what I know. We can't blame anybody for that, but it does seem as if your folks might have some feelings for us in our trouble. 'Siah Warren takes pains to tell folks, since William come home, 'That the Bradleys always was an unlucky set, and he guesses that it's about as well so as any way. Ann could find chances enough, if William had broke down.' William was the first to see that he must give you up, but it does seem as if that was a hard thing to say of us in our trouble."

Ann's lip quivered, and it was long before she found voice to plead: "Oh! don't lay up father's hard speeches. Think of me now just as you used to, will you not? I came hoping to comfort William, if you will only let me see him."

"Well, I don't know as I can help it," said Mrs. Bradley, in an apologetic tone, for Ann had glided away, determined upon hearing no refusal.

Her courage faltered when she reached her lover's chamber. It was long before she raised her trembling fingers to lift the latch, and when, upon the threshold, that bowed figure, so abject in its misery, arrested her almost noiseless step, a presence was recognized.

"Oh, don't stand there mother, leave me alone, I can't bear your pity," said William impatiently.

"William," gasped the girl, advancing but a single step, ere she faltered again.

"Annie, oh! Annie." The melancholy tenderness of his tones drew her towards him involuntarily. But he had recovered himself, and stood erect and stern. "You should have spared me this, Ann."

"Not if I may comfort you as I will do. Oh! William, you cannot drive me from you, my love is stronger than your despair."

And well she proved her words; but not until he had tested the might of her affection by cruel repulses, born of his maddened pride, did William Bradley take the gentle hand extended so gladly to draw him from the vortex of despair, wherein he seemed resolved to sink. The soft pressure of her lips upon his brow charmed away the almost blasphemous doubts of God's mercy, which had been driving him mad; he bowed his head upon his hands and wept, praying in broken accents to be forgiven and strengthened.

Ann had still another trial to endure, in meeting her father. His anger seemed too concentrated to be spoken for a time, until at last it broke out in curses and threats, which gave her a terrible insight into his worldly and cruel nature. She remained silent, hoping to disarm his anger, but her meekness only added fuel to the flame.

"There is the door," he cried scornfully. "Go, marry a blind man, and then take care of him, if you can. I hope you may both see the inside of a poor house, before you get a cent of my money."

Like Esau, she could have cried with an exceeding great and bitter cry, "Bless me, even me, oh my father!" but her lips could shape no articulate reply.

Seeking for employment, Ann was able to secure a situation in the factories, where William was well known. For her labor she received rather more than many of the farmers in her native village were able to support their families upon. Thrift and good management had been taught her at home. It was a mystery to all who knew her, that Ann was able to overcome the only remaining obstacle, her lover's pride. Possibly she may have persuaded him to sacrifice it to her life once more; at all events, they were married, and she had supported both, with a pair of the most willing and competent hands that ever toiled for love's sake. Poverty, that gaunt spectre which frightens so many of us into deeds of selfishness that ought to shame us, has never darkened her doors, because she is too courageous and watchful to fear such an enemy.

Do you remember how much Lucia charmed us by her descriptions of that lovely lake in New Hampshire? She met them there, this blind man and his wife, and heard their story. His was a tall and manly figure, and his step was firm and free, for close beside him, guiding, although she seemed to lean upon him, walked his Annie. Was she not indeed "the light of his eyes," "the sun of his life," in a nobler sense than are those petted birds in gilded cages, whom eastern poets have delighted to honor.

MARRIAGE OF A MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER.

The Corcoran—Eustis Wedding as Seen by "Jenkins."

WASHINGTON, Ap 6th.

* * * * * But here I am gossipping, when I sat down to chronicle the wedding last night, at the palatial mansion of W. W. Corcoran, Esq., who gave his only child in marriage to the Hon. George Eustis, a member of Congress from the New Orleans district in the two last Congresses. But a few weeks have elapsed since we received across the ocean fabulous accounts of a wedding in the Rothschild family at Paris, but to that none but the members of the family were admitted. Mr. Corcoran, who may be styled the Rothschild of the United States, as he has amassed his colossal fortune by government loans, was more liberal. Nearly fifteen hundred invitations, gotten up in Broadway, were distributed the Union over, and, when I opened mine, I could almost see inscribed upon it a quotation from Shakspeare: "I come to fetch you to the capitol." Of course I accepted especially as I had promised some fair friends to tell them all about it.

THE SCENE OF THE FESTIVITIES.

Mr. Corcoran's house (which fronts on President's Square, and in its rear spacious gardens with conservatories) is that once purchased by the solid men of Boston for their champion expounder, but, like the frigate Constitution, there is very little of it left as it was then. The saloons and hall have been lavishly decorated, and numerous additions have been made, including a large picture gallery, a princely dining-room, and a quaint library, well stocked with rare works and choice engravings.

At one end of the picture-gallery, in a bay window which forms a fitting shrine, stands the original Greek Slave, by Powers. On the walls are a few paintings by the old masters, including a Holy Family by Raphael Mengs, which was brought from Europe, by Joseph Bonaparte. The collection, however, is chiefly American, and has fine specimens of the genius of Cole, Doughty, Fisher, Sully, Huntington, Leutze, Lanman, and a score of other artists. For one of Leutze's small compositions, Milton playing on the harpsichord before Cromwell, the artist received upward of four thousand dollars.

THE CEREMONY.

The appointed hour was eight o'clock; and before that hour the select circle invited to witness the ceremony had arrived, and were received by Mr. Corcoran. The house was profusely decorated with rare exotics grouped in high pyramids, filling vases or formed into baskets or boquets; and myriads of wax lights added to the brilliancy of the gass. Every thing was done that could have been done to give eclat to the scene yet Bishop, M'Ilvain, who had been invited for "auld acquaintance" sake to officiate was non est inventus. He probably was accidently detained; and Rev. D. Pyne, of St. John's Church, was invited at a late hour to perform the ceremony.

At eight o'clock Mr. Corcoran stepped into an adjoining room, and soon reappeared with Dr. Pyne in full canonicals. Eagerly was his invitation to repair to the picture-gallery accepted; but I doubt if any one of the crowd which followed him thither was prepared for the impressive and beautiful tableau which presented itself.

At the far end of the gallery, as a presiding divinity, was the exquisite chef d'œuvre of Powers surrounded by the rarest exotics, pure and white as the eloquent marble itself. Before the pedestal, however, were dense clusters of scarlet azelias, which formed an effective background for the bride, who was, of course, the "observed of all observers." Never was there more lovely victim at the altar of Hymen, and never did she appear more beautiful. Rather petite, with a full face, expressive eyes, and graceful carriage, her portrait then would have been worth a king's ransom. She wore one of the marvelous combinations of modern mantua-making, which almost baffles description, unless by some such adept as the fashion purveyor for Harper's Magazine. The dress proper was of white silk, which was entirely covered with puffed tulle, over which was a bertha and a triple-flounced skirt of the richest point applique lace. Orange blossoms decked her corsage and her hair, a bridal vail of rare lace hung in heavy folds, and glistening diamonds, her father's gift, set off her attire.

The bridegroom, who is a slender, gallant-looking young fellow, combines the Beacon Hill hauteur of his paternal ancestors with the French suavity of manner and genial disposition of his sunny home. Next the bride was her cousin, Miss Hill, who, as the first bridemaid, wore white flowers in her hair; and Mr. Eustis was flanked by his younger brother. On either side were three couples of the remaining dozen attendants. Sidney Webster, Esq., well known as the private secretary of President Pierce; M. Camille Dollfus, Second Secretary of the French Legation; Messrs. Wright and Miles, of the House of Representatives; and Mr. Bates, of Boston, formed a fine array of groomsmen.

Of course they all sported the bridal favor in their button-holes. As for the remaining bridemaids, Misses Fay, Corcoran, Campbell, Howe, Pennington, and Grow, uniformly attired in white, studded with tiny pink boquets, they reminded me of the old poet's description of the queen's attendants in the "Flower and the Leaf:"

> "A traine less fair, as ancient fathers tell,
> Seduced the sons of Heaven to rebel.
> I pass their form, and every charming grace
> Less than an angel would their worth debase.
> But their attire, like liveries of a kind
> Simple yet rich, is fre h within my mind."

Dr. Pyne stopped a few paces in front of the couple about to be wedded, Mr. Corcoran standing at his right hand, just in his rear, the attendants being on either side. The remainder of the gallery was filled with the interested witnesses of this imposing ceremony. Never was the ritual of the church more impressively read. Mr. Corcoran gave the bride away; the wedded couple knelt upon two prayer-cushions placed before them; and no sooner had the clergyman said "Amen!" than they sealed the rite with a kiss.

Then commenced the congratulations. Next after Mr. Corcoran, was the venerable grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Commodore Morris, with three of her daughters, all of them, I believe the wives of surgeons in the navy. Other relatives and intimate friends were warm in their wishes for the future happiness of the young couple; and after receiving their congratulations they went into the drawing-room. When they had left the gallery a quadrille band entered, and performed during the remainder of the evening. As it is Lent there was no dancing, although many a tiny foot tapped time to the music.

THE SUPPER.

There was a tea-room open all the evening, and at the extremity of a flower-decked corridor was a table, upon which was a trio of huge punch-bowls filled with delectable beverages. Later in the evening the dinner-room was thrown open, and a supper-table disclosed which would have done honor to the skill of Careme, or Soyer, or Vatel. A high bride's cake of course towered over all, but there was a profusion of pates, terrapin, game, oysters, salads, and confectionery of every description, with the products of well-known vintages. The happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Eustis was of course a standing toast. Nor did the grave seigneurs fail to give themselves up to "mirth and merriment, which bars a thousand harms and lengthens life."

LES ADIEUX.

As midnight approached the guests began to depart after again paying their respects to the happy couple. Some of them will to-day meet again at a wedding-dinner, to be given by Mr. Corcoran and to-morrow there is to be a fete champetre at his country-seat, upon which he is now making great agricultural improvements. And so passed off this much talked of wedding, which really merited this hasty chronicle from

Trial of Dan'l E. Sickles for the Killing of P. Barton Key.

WASHINGTON, April 16, 11 A. M.—We are requested on the part of Mr. Sickles to state that he regrets, for many reasons, but particularly for the sake of his child, who must one day read the narrative of her mother's shame, that the confession of Mrs. Sickles was published. The publication was contrary to his wishes, and if it had been within his power, he would have suppressed it.

The Court opened at the usual hour and with the usual crowd in attendance.

Mr. Phillips resumed his argument. He had discussed yesterday the following propositions: 1st, that if the evidence offered is admissable for any purpose, it must be received; 2d, that the issue presented by the indictment is not whether there has been a murder; 3d, that to constitute murder there must be a killing with a deliberation or malice prepense; 4th, that the malice of the law implied a wicked, depraved and malignant spirit—a heart regardless of social duties, and fatally bent on mischief; 5th, that even in cases of express malice, arising out of a past grudge, if there had been new provocation intervening, it was not to be presumed the killing was on the old grudge; 6th, that in cases where the law presumes malice from the act of killing, this presumption may be rebutted by expressions of good will and acts of kindness on the part of the prisoner toward the deceased, always considered important evidence as showing what was his general disposition toward deceased, from which the jury may be led to conclude that his intention could not have been what the charge imputes; quoting 2d Russell, p. 698; that this presumption may also be rebutted, by showing that the killing was in passion—for passion arising from sufficient provocation, is evidence of absence of malice (quoting from the Commonwealth versus Ball, p. 169); 7th, that as the law declares adultery to be the greatest of all provocations, there could be no such legal absurdity as permitting evidence of lesser provocation, and excluding evidence of the greater; 8th, this brought me to the consideration of the admission of the prosecution, that if the accused had seen with his own eyes the very fact of the adultery, then the provocation could be given in evidence, not otherwise. This he demonstrated to be wholly unreasonable and fallacious, by proving that the eye, the ear and the touch were but mediums through which facts were transmitted to the brain, and that this governed the will and decided the action. He was illustrating the position that the knowledge of the adultery at the time of its commission could be as definitely conveyed to the mind by the ear or the touch, as by the eye, and cited examples to this end, when the adjournment of the Court took place.

Mr. Phillips closed between one and two. He demonstrated that the dictum of Lord Hale in the Maddy case applied only to the specific facts in that case, that it is antiquated and fails to meet the requirements of modern society, and that on no reasonable ground can it be made to operate on the court here. That dictum reduced the offense of a man who killed the seducer of his wife, having caught him in the very act, from murder to manslaughter. But in that trial there was a special jury, which was permitted to enquire into the prisoner's intent. He had yesterday presented a case in illustration of the falsity and absurdity of the doctrine that a man must see the act of adultery to entitle him to set it up in justification. He might also illustrate the same idea of a blind man. He had seen a picture of Hogarth's representing a scene at an English hustings, where an old man with the snows of many winters on his head, and without his right arm, which he had lost in the service of his country, came up to vote. The old man was challenged, and the Judge declared that inasmuch as the form of oath required the person taking it to place his right hand upon the book, and as this man had no right hand, he was not a competent voter. That doctrine was about as absurd as the doctrine laid down by the prosecution, that the husband must find the adulterer in the very act.

Suppose the husband found the adulterer in his wife's bed, in a state of quiescence, or found him disrobing or clothing himself in the bedroom of his wife, would it be held that that fact would not be a legal justification.

The District Attorney did not know that there was any well-defined line in this matter.

Mr. Phillips replied that there was no reason for this rule, as in the nature of things it would be impossible to make the proof; and when the reason of the law does not apply, the law itself is at an end. Did not the adulterer invariably endeavor to shield himself from detection? Besides, if the husband did find the parties in the act, how was it to be proved? The tongue of the adulterer is palsied; the tongue of the wife is silenced by the law, and the prisoner cannot give evidence in his own case. It was not, therefore, the mere witness of the fact, but the knowledge of it, however derived, which stings the human passions and lashes them into fury, and if the adulterer is killed in the transport of passion thus aroused, the law which is a rule for the government of man, has regard to the frailties which hang around the human heart. The most liberal interpretation of the law does not require that the killing should be concurrent with the act of adultery. The counsel referred to 1st Russell, pages 4 and 5, to show that though the killing may be subsequent, it would not be murder if not done deliberately and upon revenge. Counsel also discussed the case of maiming, in which he said this prosecution entirely rested, and even there the Judges unanimously declared that the killing was but manslaughter, and the prisoner having clergy at the bar, the sentence was that he be burned in the hand; and the Court directed the executioner to burn the hand very slightly—as adultery was the greatest provocation that a man could receive, and too much for him to bear.

With a view of testing this matter still further, suppose they were to convert this judicial resolution of the Judges in Manning's case into a statute against adultery; that any person found in the act should suffer such and such punishment? and if a person were indicted under that statute, what amount of evidence, he would ask, would be necessary to convince the jury that the offence had been committed? Would it be for a moment contended that the witnesses must testify to seeing the very act itself? The statutes of Massachusetts declared that any party who had been guilty of the crime of adultery should suffer so and so, and then what evidence was necessary to convict a man under it? He would read some of the decisions.

The counsel referred to the case of the Commonwealth vs. Morris, 1st vol. Cushing, p. 394, and also to vol. 14 Pickering, p. 518, in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Morrow. The rule was the same in other States and in the English Courts. He referred to the case of the State vs. Wallace, N. H. reports, and to a case in Alabama. He also referred to the opinion of Lord Stowell, vol. 2, Greenleaf's evidence, where it is declared that it is not necessary to prove the fact of adultery, but to prove such facts as led to the inevitable inference that the offence had been committed. The circumstances must be such as to lead the guarded opinion of a discreet man to such a conclusion. Counsel would ask whether the knowledge on the part of the husband of adultery is required to be greater and more complete, in order to justify the provocation, than would be required by a jury of twelve deliberate and impartial men to convince them, if they were trying the very issue of adultery? To ask that, would be to reverse all our notions in reference to the principles of law and in reference to the principles of humanity. In the case of John, reported in Iredell. John was a slave, and there being no marital rights recognized as between slaves, there could be no adultery; but the counsel on the other side had said that there was no distinction in law between slaves and freemen.

Railroad Accidents.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 15.—A collision occurred between the passenger train which left here at 12 o'clock, and a freight train on the Lafayette and Indianapolis road. No person seriously hurt. Damage from $5,000 to $10,000.

MADISON, (Ind.) April 14.—The engine and baggage car of the passenger train, going north on the Jeffersonville Railroad, broke through a bridge, near Amity, at 8 o'clock this morning. The engineer, Henry Snipes, was instantly killed, and the fireman badly injured.

CINCINNATI, April 15.—An accident occurred on the Mad River Railroad, at a point north of Kenton, yesterday morning. It appears that a culvert over a small stream had been washed away, and that as the morning train came up, the engine dashed into the opening, killing the fireman almost instantly, and very seriously injuring the engineer.

From New York.

NEW YORK, April 16.—A New Orleans dispatch says that Capt. Ford's company Texan Rangers, numbering 47, had been surrounded in the north of that State by 800 Indians, and a desperate battle ensued in which Ford and four of his men cut their way through the Indians. Great excitement prevails on the frontier, and large companies will proceed in search of the Indians.

The mail screw steamer New York, Capt. Von Santen, left this afternoon for Bremen via. Southampton, with 101 cabin passengers and 81 in the steerage. She takes $179,000 in specie. Among the passengers is the Hon. R. Schleiden, Minister Resident of Bremen.

From New York.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Lord Napier left this city to-day for Boston. Previous to his departure, he was visited at the Astor House by a body of English residents, who presented him with a highly complimentary address, to which he responded in appropriate terms.

Later dates from Jamaica say the missing boats of the steamer Jasseur had been picked up and brought to Kingston. The men had been nineteen days on the boat, and were in a deplorable state. One had died of starvation, and the purser and surgeon had both gone mad.

Frederick Leonard, a horse dealer from Boston, was robbed last night of $400, at Nixon's Circus, in Brooklyn.

The Wholesale Murder in Maine.

BANGOR, Me., April 13.—Marshall Potter, who was arrested a day or two since, charged with having murdered his mother, two brothers and nephew, at Lee, was brought here yesterday and committed to jail. In his confession he says he made a clean sweep of the whole family, stole all the money and burned the house to hide his guilt. He shows no particular feeling about the matter.

Reaction of Sentiment against Sickles.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The belief now strongly obtains that the jury will disagree in the Sickles case, owing to the reaction produced by his wife's confession, which bears internal evidence of having been dictated as preliminary to the homicide. His counsel, however, still boast confidently of his acquittal.

Providence Election.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 15.—The second trial in this city to elect members of the General Assembly has resulted in the choice of the American Republicans.

Slave Traders Indicted.

SAVANNAH, April 15.—The Federal Court has found two bills against Chas. Lamar, R. F. Aiken, Jno. F. Tucker, and others for holding the Africans by the yacht Wanderer.

Appointment by the President.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16.—Judge W. K. Parish, of Du Quoin, has been appointed U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, vice Allen, resigned.

Financial and Commercial.

MONETARY.

SATURDAY EVENING, April 16, 1859.

The weather for most of the past week has been more like winter than we have a right to expect from the second month of spring. The cold winds have chilled transactions, and dullness seems to pervade financial matters generally. Exchange continues exceedingly scarce. By this time it was hoped the movements of produce towards the seaboard would have relieved the market; but as yet it seems not to have experienced any perceptible change. Rates, however, continue precisely at former figures, viz: Exchange, 1½; Gold, 1½; Discounts, 10 per cent; street rates nominal at 1@2 per cent per month, with few transactions.

The supply of money to loan on five years, on account of Eastern capitalists, is increasing. Inside productive city property is in all cases required as security. There is no chance as yet for farmers and speculators in outside city lots. The new loans are used in cancelling old obligations, improving vacant lots and otherwise improving the city. Chicago now affords the best opportunities for permanent investment of any city in the Union. The rates of interest—ten per cent—it is true are high; but the certain progress of the city and the Northwest will enable property owners to pay it, while to the Eastern capitalist the investment is exceedingly productive.

COMMERCIAL.

The Wheat market opened buoyant, and under a good demand, Winter advanced 1@2c. Spring Wheat was in fair request, but buyers and sellers could not agree, and the transactions were limited. The sales foot up about 17,000 bushels at $1.30@1.32 for No. 1 Red in store; $1.15@1.16 for No. 2 Red; and 94c for Standard. Market closing firm. The receipts of Corn were light, and operations were therefore restricted. Sales were about 8,000 bushels at 70c afloat for Canal; and 68c in store for No. 1 Railroad. Oats dull. There was more activity in flour, with sales at $5@5.40 for Spring Extras; $4.50 for Super. Spring; $5.50 for Super. Winter; and $6.88 for choice White Winter. Mess Pork in fair demand and firm at to-day's sales—$16.50. Timothy Seed scarce and in demand at $1.80@1.85; Hungarian Grass scarce.

CINCINNATI.—The Gazette of yesterday thus reviews the markets:

The demand for flour has improved and prices are stiffer. The sales included 3,000 bbls at $5.40@5.50 for superfine, closing firm at the latter figure. Whisky advanced ¼c, closing at 23¼c. There is a better demand for sugar, and 160 hhds sold, chiefly for Buffalo, at 7@7¼c. Molasses steady at 34c. Coffee firm at 12@12½c. With the exception of lard there is no movement of consequence in provisions. Mess Pork may be quoted at $17. There is a moderate inquiry for Bacon at 6½c and 8½c for shoulders and sides. Bulk Shoulders sold to the extent of 100,000 lbs at $5.90 loose and $6 packed. Of Lard, 300 bbls country sold at 10¼@10½c. City is held at 11c, and keg would sell readily at 12c. The advices from New York are favorable for Lard, but unfavorable for everything else in the provision line. For wheat there is a continued good demand, and prices are firmly sustained. Corn drags, but prices have not given way. Potatoes sold at 80c per bush for prime Neshannocks.

BUFFALO, April 14.—Receipts by Lake, 1,955 bbls flour, 1,758 bu wheat, 5,000 bu corn. Markets quiet. Sales 1,000 bbls flour at $4.60@5.25 for State and Western spring; $5.75@6.37½ for extras, and $6.50@6.75 for double extras; buyers and sellers of wheat apart. Corn at retail 80c. 800 bu Canada oats at 53@56c.

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—Receipts, 2,068 sks corn, by river, and 372 sks by rail; 3,227 sks wheat, by river, and 779 sks by rail. Sales were: 2,500 sks wheat at $1.03½@1.40 for common fall to prime white; 2,700 bags corn at 69@70c for mixed, 72@73 for mixed and yellow; and 77@78c for choice white in new gunnies. Whisky declined—sales of 223 bbls at 23½@23¾c; 100 bags mixed potatoes at 79c, and 100 bags extra Michigan at $1.00. Dry Hides at 19c.

DETROIT LUMBER MARKET.—The Advertiser gives the following quotations for lumber:

FURS.—At the Hudson Bay Co.'s sale, London, 17th, ult. all offered sold, as compared with September prices, at an advance of 10 per cent on otter and fisher, 20 on silver and cross fox and marten, 15 on wolf, and mink 35 per cent; skunk sold 30 per cent lower, red fox, bear and lynx at Sept. prices. At Lampson's sale on the 23d, racoon sold at an advance of 10 per cent, red and gray fox and marten 20, mink 35, cross and silver fox and fisher same as Hudson's Bay sale and otter 10 per cent higher; sea otter, bear and lynx same as at Sept. sale and skunk 20 per cent lower. Musquash, in some cases the seconds were ½d per skin lower, and other sorts some as at January sale.

A New York trade circular says: The sales in London have not come up to the expectations entertained, as the prices for the several furs were really higher than were realised in London, and the prospects for the ensuing Leipzig Fair are extremely gloomy, besides the stock in London (not offered at the sales) remaining unsold is large. In fact, the collection of furs this season is very large and our market is entirely unsettled, prices nominal and declining daily.

Bound Down—Prop Montgomery; schr Kate L. Bruce, E. Fletcher.

PROPELLER FOUNTAIN CITY OFF.—The propeller Fountain City which went on the pier yesterday, was got off this afternoon without injury. The Fountain City, which is one of the finest propellers that sail from this port, is officered as follows: Capt. E. M. Peck; First Mate, Ira Owen; Chief Engineer, S. M. Coe; Steward, S. B. Cooley; Clerk, L. N Kimball. Her cabin is about a hundred feet long, has 28 double berths, and she will accommodate over 100 passengers, and in her fitting out, none of the little conveniences necessary to make a trip pleasant are forgotten.

☞ On Thursday while the propeller Galena was backing out to leave the port of Cleveland, she struck one of the large stones near the west pier, and caused so bad a leakage as to compel the discharge of her cargo. She was bound for Chicago with a good freight and sixty or seventy passengers.

PROPELLERS CLEARING.—The propeller Chicago, Capt. Briggs, and the propeller Dacotah, Capt. Pease, of the N. Y. Central line, cleared to-day for Buffalo both with full cargoes of Flour, Grain and Provisions.

[From the Detroit Free Press of the 14th.]

MORE ICE.—The propeller Montgomery arrived yesterday from the Sault River with 700 tons of ice. The river is still closed.

DISASTERS.—The Forest Queen reports the schooner Zadoc Pratt hard aground at the Flats, lying broadside to the sea.—The Susquehanna, Gore, and a black vessel, with a spritsail yard, are also aground. A black fore-and-after is reported ashore at Point Pelee Island, and the schooner Northern Belle and a large scow are hard aground on Fighting Island, below the city. The brig Wm. Penn is ashore at Bar Point. The Reindeer has gone to her aid. The propeller Mohawk, W. T. Co., Capt. H. L. Pheatt, arrived here last evening from Buffalo, reports heavy weather outside. Saw two vessels ashore about two miles below the mouth of the river, one a large timber vessel, painted black; the other a fore-and-after, painted white. Saw several other vessels at anchor about the head of the lake.

The scow Goldsmith, bound down with a cargo fish is reported ashore ten miles below Sable river.

The Northern Belle has got off.

—It is reported that the little steamer Swift exploded her boiler while lying at the dock in St. Clair, Michigan, on the 5th inst. Two men who were in the cabin were thrown, one of them about twenty feet from the boat into the river, and the other on the deck. Both were severely injured. Portions of the boiler and timbers were thrown a distance of eight rods.

—The following are from the Detroit Advertiser of the 14th:

RAISED.—The scow-schooner Brandywine, sunk some time since by the ice, near the round house, was raised yesterday.

—Capt. Chilvers, of the Gem, says although he has been navigating the Detroit river 23 years he has never seen as hard a blow as this afternoon. The Gem was damaged about $125, in the loss of her hurricane deck, &c.

—The Prop. Ogdensburgh, of the Ogdensburgh line, arrived to-day. She will land 100 tons of freight at E. R. Mathews' dock, and then proceed to Chicago.

ANCHORS LOST.—The schooner Vanguard, one of the first vessels through from Lake Michigan, has been detained here a day or two on account of losing her anchors in the Straits.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.—Whereas John Apel, late of the city of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, did on the twentieth day of August, A. D. 1855, make, execute and deliver to the undersigned, George K. Shoenberger, a mortgage deed, bearing date the day and year aforesaid, to secure the payment to said Shoenberger of three promissory notes, of even date with said mortgage, for the sum of two thousand dollars each, signed by the said John Apel, and payable to the order of said Shoenberger, on the 18th day of September in each of the years 1856, 1857, and 1858, with interest at six per cent. payable annually, upon the lands and tenements situated in Cook County, Illinois, and known and described as follows, to-wit: That certain tract of land known as the Guthrie farm, and described as follows, viz: commencing at a point twenty-seven (27) rods north from the southwest corner of Section twenty-seven (27), in Township forty-one (41) north, Range twelve (12) east, running thence east one hundred and sixty (160) rods, thence north eighty (80) rods, thence west eighty (160) rods, thence north fifty-three (53) rods, thence west three hundred and twenty (320) rods, thence south eighty (80) rods, thence east eighty (80) rods, thence east eighty (80) rods, thence south one hundred and seven (107) rods, thence east eighty rods to the place of beginning; which said deed of mortgage is recorded in book 31 of mortgages, page 464, of the Records of Real Estate Conveyances in the said County of Cook. And whereas, also, default has been made by the said John Apel in the payment of the two last mentioned of the said promissory notes; and whereas, the Cook County Court of Common Pleas, Cook County, Illinois, by a decretal order entered at the January term thereof A. D. 1859, in a suit in Chancery, wherein James Gardiner and others, subsequent grantees of said John Apel, of separate parcels of said lands and tenements, were complainants, and the said Shoenberger, Ole Peterson, also a subsequent grantee of said Apel of a parcel of said lands and tenements, and others were defendants, did order, adjudge and decree, that if the said Shoenberger should sell the said lands and tenements, at public auction, by virtue of the powers given to him in said mortgage, he should sell the same in the manner following, to-wit: commencing with the parcel conveyed by said Apel to said Ole Peterson, that he should sell the same first in order, and if the same should not bring a sufficient price to pay the full amount due upon said mortgage, including interest and the costs and expenses of such sale, that then he should sell so many of the other parcels of said lands and tenements, severally conveyed to said complainants by said Apel, as should be necessary to produce the full amount due as aforesaid, selling the same in the inverse order of the dates of the several conveyances aforesaid.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises, and by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage deed, public notice is hereby given by me, the said George K. Shoenberger, that I shall, on Wednesday, the 20th day of April, A.D. 1859, at the north door of the Court House in said city of Chicago, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, the said lands and tenements, or so many parcels thereof, severally conveyed by said John Apel to the said Ole Peterson, and the said complainants in said suit in Chancery, as may be necessary to bring the full amount due on said mortgage, for principal, interest, cost and expenses as aforesaid, selling first the parcel conveyed by said Apel to said Peterson, and so many of the other parcels as may be necessary as aforesaid, in the inverse order of the dates of the conveyance thereof, to the several grantees of said Apel, and all the right and equity of redemption of the said John Apel, his heirs and assigns, in the parcels so sold, in pursuance of the said decretal order, to satisfy the amount now due me by virtue of the said notes and mortgage, and all costs and expenses incurred in advertising and selling said premises. For a more particular description of the several parcels above mentioned, see deeds on record in the Recorder's office, Cook County, Illinois, from John Apel to James Gardiner and Isabella his wife, John E. Higgins, Bridget McGuire, Charles Ruhl, James Gardiner and Ole Peterson.

Settlement of the Paraguay Difficulties.

An article from the N. Y. Evening Post, detailing the progress of negotiations between Mr. Commissioner Bowlin and the Paraguay government, up to the date of the last advices, will be found on the third page of this morning's issue.

THE LETTER OF EDWARD BATES OF MISSOURI.

The letter of Mr. Bates, of Missouri, to Hiram Ketchum, of New York, appears in the New York papers of Saturday last. As Mr. Bates has been mentioned in some quarters as a probable candidate of the Opposition for the Presidency in 1860, much solicitude is felt as to his position on the question of slavery. The letter is a long and able one, touching upon a variety of national topics, and embracing a scathing review of both the domestic and foreign policy of the present administration. Upon the question of slavery it is exceedingly brief, and, unless we take for granted what it certainly would have been better for Mr. Bates to have expressly stated, that he is in favor of restoring the former policy of the Government in the preservation of the national domain to freedom and free labor—we must say unsatisfactory also. Here is what he says upon the subject:

> As to the Negro question—I have always thought, and often declared, in speech and in print, that it is a pestilent question, the agitation of which has never done good to any party, section or class, and never can do good, unless it be accounted good to stir up the angry passions of men, and exasperate the unreasoning jealousy of sections, and by those bad means foist some unfit men into office, and keep some fit men out. It is a sensitive question, into whose dangerous vortex it is quite possible for good men to be drawn unawares. But when I see a man at the South or the North, of mature age and some experience, persist in urging the question, after the sorrowful experience of the last few years, I can attribute his conduct to no higher motive than personal ambition or sectional prejudice.

If Mr. Bates means to say in the above that he disapproves of the stand taken by the Republicans of the free States and by the party in Missouri with which he is understood to be identified, in resistance to the extension of slavery beyond its present boundaries, of course that ends the chapter, so far as his presidential aspirations—if, indeed, he has such—are concerned. It is to be regretted that he was not a little fuller and more explicit on this subject. The N. Y. Tribune places a favorable construction upon the passage we have quoted from the letter, but more from Mr. Bates' antecedents evidently than from anything contained in the letter. There are two ways, says that journal, of "ignoring the negro question." One of them contemplates the ignoring and discouraging of all resistance to the schemes and aggressions of the slavery propaganda, no matter how unreasonable those schemes may be. The other mode is as follows:

> "It regards Slavery as a lamentable but local and temporary evil—one which, when confined within the limits of the States which see fit to uphold it, the other States and the Federal Government have no power to abolish. We may counsel, inform, exhort, remonstrate with, our Southern brethren respecting Slavery as with regard to any other evil; but we have no power to constrain or coerce them, and it is neither wise nor necessary to insult or exasperate them.—This mode contents itself with moral and intellectual opposition to Slavery, confident that, if kept within its legal boundaries, it will soon die of its inherent viciousness—that it can be perpetuated only by repeated and extensive acquisitions of new territories to overrun, new regions to exhaust. This mode sternly resists every new pretension of the Slave Power, whether it be to repeal compacts of which it has enjoyed the benefit and now seeks to withhold the stipulated quid pro quo, or to acquire new domains in its interest, or to open new territories to its inroads, or to reverse the settled principles of Common Law to its advantage, or to defraud and oppress a people struggling to escape its meshes, or to reopen the foreign Slave-trade for its aggrandizement. We believe this sort of 'ignoring the Negro question' has the approval and sympathy of Edward Bates."

This is all very well, so far as it goes, but it is not what Mr. Bates has chosen to put upon record. It is very evident that the friends of that gentleman will have to withdraw his name from the list of candidates for the contest of 1860, or that he will have to write another letter. If there be a union of the opposition—of which we confess we at present see no prospect—it must be upon the Republican platform, and the candidate, whoever, he may be, must be avowedly and thoroughly in sympathy with its doctrines. Taking Mr. Bates' letter as evidence as to where he stands, he has yet a long way to travel to get Republican support.

The Reward of the Faithful.

A private letter from Dubuque, Iowa, informs us that J. J. E. Norman, one of the oldest and most faithful of the Democrats of that State, and who has for the last six years performed the duties of clerk in the office of the Surveyor General, has been removed from that station by and through the agency of Brigadier General George Wallace Jones, of the Iowa Militia, Ex-Senator, and now Minister to Bogota. The reason assigned for Mr. Norman's removal, was that he ventured to scratch the regular Democratic ticket; but the true reason is that he was sacrificed by Jones as a peace offering toward the clique of Dorr & Co., who rule the roast in that portion of the Democratic family. Jones has reasons for wishing to conciliate this clique, and to have all things pleasant and agreeable for him on his return in 1861, from Bogota, and he did not hesitate to sacrifice his warmest friend. Mr. Norman has served Jones for 19 years; he has also been an Administration Democrat ever since Mr. Buchanan came into office, and has written as much in his favor as any man in Dubuque, besides spending his money liberally in sustaining the Lecompton paper there. Now he receives his reward, and experiences the last act of political tyranny which Jones is capable of exercising. Mr. Norman was the first man who introduced Jones' name to the Legislature as a candidate for the Senate, twelve years ago. The conduct of the latter excites the liveliest disgust among the Administration men in and about Dubuque.

Lumber Statistics.

We find floating among our exchanges, credited to the Port Huron Commercial, the following paragraph in regard to an article which appeared in the PRESS AND TRIBUNE several weeks since, estimating the supply of lumber for this market during the present year:—

> "If no more care has been taken with the balance of the table than with St. Clair river, we would advise very little dependence upon these figures. The supply from St. Clair river is put down at eight millions. Upwards of twenty-five millions will be turned into the St. Clair from Black river alone. We presume at least six millions will be taken from Pine river—making in the aggregate some four times the quantity given by our Chicago cotemporary."

If the Commercial will take the trouble to read the article referred to, it will find that we did not estimate the amount of lumber to be manufactured on the St. Clair River, but only the amount which would be shipped to this market, and we are quite sure that our figures will not vary far from the result.

Defeat of the English Ministry.

The Derby Ministry were defeated in the House of Commons on the motion for the second reading of the Reform bill, by the decisive vote of 330 to 291. The bill was a concession to popular right which the ultra Conservatives were not willing to make, while its provisions were not comprehensive enough to satisfy the genuine Reformers, and so between these two stools Lord Derby's government has come to the floor. It was quite uncertain at the date of the sailing of the steamer whether the Ministry would resign or go before the people on the question. The Times, of the 2d inst., inclines to the opinion that the latter alternative would be adopted.
